Measuring Up Daniel Koretz, 2009-09-15 Measuring Up demystifies educational testing from MCAS to SAT to WAIS Bringing statistical terms down to earth Koretz takes readers through the most fundamental issues that arise in educational testing and shows how they apply to some of the most controversial issues in education today from high stakes testing to special education

Adaptive Thermal Comfort: Foundations and Analysis Michael Humphreys, Fergus Nicol, Susan Roaf, 2015-08-27 There has been widespread dissatisfaction with accepted models for predicting the conditions that people will find thermally comfortable in buildings These models require knowledge about clothing and activity but can give little guidance on how to quantify them in any future situation This has forced designers to make assumptions about people's future behaviour based on very little information and as a result encouraged static design indoor temperatures This book is the second in a three volume set covering all aspects of Adaptive Thermal Comfort The first part narrates the development of the adaptive approach to thermal comfort from its early beginnings in the 1960s It discusses recent work in the field and suggests ways in which it can be developed and modelled Such models can be used to set dynamic interactive standards for thermal comfort which will help overcome the problems inherited from the past The second part of the volume engages with the practical and theoretical problems encountered in field studies and in their statistical analysis providing guidance towards their resolution so that valid conclusions may be drawn from such studies

Rethinking Value-Added Models in Education Audrey Amrein-Beardsley, 2014-04-24 Since passage of the No Child Left Behind Act in 2001 academic researchers econometricians and statisticians have been exploring various analytical methods of documenting students' academic progress over time Known as value added models VAMs these methods are meant to measure the value a teacher or school adds to student learning from one year to the next To date however there is very little evidence to support the trustworthiness of these models What is becoming increasingly evident yet often ignored mainly by policymakers is that VAMs are 1 unreliable 2 invalid 3 nontransparent 4 unfair 5 fraught with measurement errors and 6 being inappropriately used to make consequential decisions regarding such things as teacher pay retention and termination Unfortunately their unintended consequences are not fully recognized at this point either Given such the timeliness of this well researched and thoughtful book cannot be overstated This book sheds important light on the debate surrounding VAMs and thereby offers states and practitioners a highly important resource from which they can move forward in more research based ways
