Romanic Review, 1929 Grattius Steven J. Green, 2018-03-09 Grattius Cynegetica a Roman didactic poem on hunting with dogs is the author's only surviving work though it reaches us now in an incomplete form Thanks to a passing reference by Ovid in his Epistulae ex Ponto it can confidently be dated to the Augustan period and yet while his literary contemporaries have been and continue to be subjects of academic scrutiny Grattius is seldom read and remains almost completely unappreciated in classical and literary scholarship This volume is the first book length study of Grattius in English or any other language and sets out to rehabilitate the neglected poet by making him and his work accessible to a wide audience Prefaced by an introduction to the poet and his work as well as the Latin text of Cynegetica and a new English translation it presents a broad collection of interpretive essays from an international team of scholars These essays explore the poem within its literary intellectual and socio political contexts and look forward to

Grattius more charitable posthumous reception in Europe in the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries As a whole they aim to reveal his enduring relevance for the tradition of didactic poetry and the study of other Augustan poetry and culture and to provide an impetus for future discussions

A Man of Many Parts Barbara Rawlinson,2006-01-01 This comprehensive study of George Gissing s short stories and related non fiction is essential reading for students of nineteenth century realism For the first time readers will be able to follow the development which transformed Gissing's unremarkable early stories into the very individual tales that elevated his work to the vanguard of realistic short fiction. Gissing's American period is notable for its accumulation of themes that were repeatedly refined and adapted for his later work, causality emerging as the dominant voice. On his return to England, shifting political and philosophical beliefs expressed in his non-fiction had a vital impact on his second phase of short fiction, and the part played by realism in the author's short stories and his writings on Charles Dickens added further dimensions to his work as a whole. By the final phase of Gissing's remarkable development, it is evident that his interest in the concept of causality as the major force in his short work had been replaced by a more challenging preoccupation with the human psyche. This introduced philosophical, sociological and psychological dimensions to Gissing's work that established him in the field of short fiction as a leading exponent of late nineteenth-century realism.

Shakespeare in Quebec Jennifer Drouin, 2014-01-01
In Shakespeare in Quebec, Jennifer Drouin analyses representations of nation and gender in Shakespearean adaptations written in Quebec since the Quiet Revolution. Using postcolonial and gender theory, Drouin traces the evolution of discourses of nation and gender in Quebec from the Conquest of New France to the present, and she elaborates a theory of adaptation specific to Shakespeare studies. Drouin's book explains why Quebecois playwrights seem so obsessed with rewriting the grand Will: what changes they make to the Shakespearean text and how the differences between Shakespeare and the adaptations engage the nationalist, feminist and queer concerns of Quebec society. Close readings from ten plays investigate the radical changes to content that allowed Quebecois playwrights to advocate for political change and contribute to the hot debates of the Quiet Revolution: the 1970 October Crisis, the 1980 and 1995 referenda, the rise of feminism and the emergence of AIDS. Drouin reveals not only how Shakespeare has been adapted in Quebec but also how Quebecois adaptations have evolved in response to changes in the political climate. As a critical analysis in English of rich but largely ignored French plays, Shakespeare in Quebec bridges Canada's two solitudes.

Latinos and Education Antonia Darder, Rodolfo D. Torres, Henry Gutiérrez, 1997
This reader establishes a clear link between educational practice and the structural dimensions which shape institutional life and calls for the development of a new language that moves beyond disciplinary and racialized categories of difference and structural inequality. These highly accessible essays, which achieve a useful balance of theory and practice, discuss themes such as political economy, historical views of Latinos and schooling, identity, the politics of language, cultural democracy in the classroom, community involvement and Latinos in higher education.

The Politics of Big Fantasy John C. McDowell, 2014-07-16
Bringing critical attention to a particular set of science-fiction and fantasy films, Larry and Andy Wachowski's The Matrix, George Lucas' Star Wars saga and Joss Whedon's Avengers, this book utilizes a wide-ranging set of critical tools to illuminate their political ideologies while also examining any resistant and complicating turns or byways the films may provide. What they all have in common ideologically is that they or at least the genres they belong to tend to be regarded as belonging to politically conservative frames of sociocultural reference. With the Star Wars saga, however, this idea is shown to be superficial and weak      Black Writers, White Publishers John K. Young, 2010-02-11 Winner of the 2006 Eudora Welty Prize Jean Toomer's Cane was advertised as a book about Negroes by a Negro despite his request not to promote the book along such racial lines Nella Larsen switched the title of her second novel from Nig to Passing because an editor felt the original title might be too inflammatory In order to publish his first novel as a Book of the Month Club main selection Richard Wright deleted a scene in Native Son depicting Bigger Thomas masturbating Toni Morrison changed the last word of Beloved at her editor's request and switched the title of Paradise from War to allay her publisher's marketing concerns Although many editors place demands on their authors these examples invite special scholarly attention given the power imbalance between white editors and publishers and African American authors Black Writers White Publishers Marketplace Politics in Twentieth Century African American Literature examines the complex negotiations behind the production of African American literature In chapters on Larsen's Passing Ishmael Reed's Mumbo Jumbo Gwendolyn Brooks's Children Coming Home Morrison's Oprah's Book Club selections and Ralph Ellison's Juneteenth John K Young presents the first book length application of editorial theory to African American literature Focusing on the manuscripts drafts book covers colophons and advertisements that trace book production Young expands upon the concept of socialized authorship and demonstrates how the study of publishing history and practice and African American literary criticism enrich each other

The Canadian Magazine J. Gordon Mowat, John Alexander Cooper, Newton MacTavish, 1929      Literacies of Power Donaldo Macedo, 2018-03-09 Literacies of Power illustrates the many ways American schools media and other social institutions perpetuate ignorance In this new expanded edition Donaldo Macedo shows why so called common culture literacy is a form of dominant cultural reproduction that undermines independent thought and goes against the best interests of our students Offering a wide ranging counterargument Macedo shows why cultural literacy cannot be restricted to the acquisition of Western heritage values which sustain an ideology that systematically negates the cultural experiences of many members of society not only minorities but also anyone who is poor or disenfranchised Macedo calls on his own experience as a Cape Verdean immigrant from West Africa who had to surmount the barriers imposed by the world's most entrenched monolingual system of higher education His eloquence in this book is testimony to the very idea that critical thinking and good education are not and must not be culturally or linguistically bounded A new concluding chapter by the author critically challenges the crucial role of schools in the manufacture of consent for the war in Iraq and the Patriot Act and the charitable racism that is too often evident in the field of ESL In essays new to this edition well known and respected educators Joe Kincheloe Peter McLaren and Shirley Steinberg share their insights on Macedo's message complementing Paulo Freire's foreword to the original edition      The Advocate, 1999-01-19 The Advocate is a lesbian gay bisexual transgender LGBT monthly newsmagazine Established in 1967 it is the oldest continuing LGBT publication in the United States      Blackness in Britain Kehinde Andrews, Lisa Amanda Palmer, 2016-04-28 Black Studies is a hugely important and yet undervalued academic field of enquiry that is marked by its disciplinary absence and omission from academic curricula in Britain There is a long and rich history of research on Blackness and Black populations in Britain However Blackness in Britain has too often been framed through the lens of racialised deficits constructed as both marginal and pathological Blackness in Britain attends to and grapples with the absence of Black Studies in Britain and the parallel crisis of Black marginality in British society It begins to map the field of Black Studies scholarship from a British context by collating new and established voices from scholars writing about Blackness in Britain Split into five parts it examines Black studies and the challenge of the Black British intellectual Revolution resistance and state violence Blackness and belonging exclusion and inequality in education experiences of Black women and the gendering of Blackness in Britain This interdisciplinary collection represents a landmark in building Black Studies in British academia presenting key debates about Black experiences in relation to Britain Black Europe and the wider Black diaspora With contributions from across various disciplines including sociology human geography medical sociology cultural studies education studies post colonial English literature history and criminology the book will be essential reading for scholars and students of the multi and interdisciplinary area of Black Studies

African Adventures Brenda Lange,2009-01-13 A true pioneer missionary Brenda survived many snake and wild animal attacks in the first thirteen years of her ministry to orphans in Mozambique Africa The Lord ordered her to rescue orphans in areas where no one else wants to go Brenda s calling to help orphans took her deep into the African bush of northern Mozambique where she has faced death multiple times From strikes by the deadly mamba to lions and leopards and machete flinging natives

Brenda has faced it all in order to rescue and evangelize orphans Read of the many miracles God performed including the raising of the dead when her interpreter was bitten by a black mamba the incident was published in Guidepost Magazine Feb 2001     The Idea of Social Science and Proper Phenomenology Jonathan Tuckett, 2018-06-11 This monograph examines an academic discipline in crisis The author claims that this field concerned with society and relationships is in trouble No one can seem to agree on what it does or how to go about doing it His insightful argument revives the thought of key phenomenologists often no longer considered in social science Looking predominantly at debates within religious studies this book uncovers certain misguided presuppositions which have strongly influenced scholars in the field This reflects itself in a Weberian Ideal regarding the institutional place of science in the universities and a failure to properly consider the epistemic status of knowledge produced for its own sake But even recognizing these issues will not get to the core of the crisis It will not help scholars better understand what it is to be human To address this the author digs deeper He draws on the philosophical phenomenology of Husserl s Phenomenological Movement to critique our very idea of social science In the process he presents a radical approach to the question of humanity This volume concludes that properly understood social science is a hobby It deserves no special place in the university Indeed if it is to be pursued properly it requires a fundamentally revised understanding of humanity The author argues this not of the sake of controversy Rather his intention is to affect the necessary shift in our understanding that will enable future constructive solutions
