State Of Environment Report South Africa:

Summaries of Foreign Government Environmental Reports, 1974 The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M. Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa. It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South. All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa. These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South. Proceedings RMRS., 1998 Sustainability of Groundwater Resources and Its Indicators Bruce Webb, 2006 Global Environmental Constitutionalism in the Anthropocene Louis J. Kotzé, 2016-09-22 There is persuasive evidence suggesting we are on the brink of human induced ecological disaster that could change life on Earth as we know it. There is also a general consensus among scientists about the pace and extent of global ecological decay including a realisation that humans are central to causing the global socio ecological crisis. This new epoch has been called the Anthropocene. Considering the many benefits that constitutional environmental protection holds out in domestic legal orders it is likely that a constitutionalised form of global environmental law and governance would be better able to counter the myriad exigencies of the Anthropocene. This book seeks to answer this central question from the perspective of the Anthropocene: what is environmental constitutionalism and how could it be extrapolated to formulate a global framework. In answering this question this book offers the first systematic conceptual framework for global environmental constitutionalism in the epoch of the Anthropocene. The State of the Marine Environment, 2006 This report provides an overview of the current state of the coastal and marine environment in relation to the nine categories of threats outlined by the Global Programme of Action for the Protection of the Marine Environment from Land based Activities (GPA). The report indicates that legal and institutional arrangements have been strengthened and now cover most regions of the world but that despite these heightened efforts globally coastal and marine ecosystems continue to deteriorate mainly because of pressures by human development. Publishing Agency: United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP). Global Environment Outlook 2000 United Nations Environment Programme (Unep), 2013-11-05 The continued poverty of the majority of the planet's inhabitants and excessive consumption by the minority are the two major causes of environmental degradation. The present course is unsustainable and postponing action is no longer an option. Inspired political leadership and intense cooperation across all regions and sectors will be needed to put both existing and new policy instruments to work. From the Synthesis: Global Environment Outlook 2000. GEO 2000 is a comprehensive and authoritative review and analysis of environmental conditions around the world. It is the flagship publication of the world's leading environmental organization.

the United Nations Environment Programme UNEP and is based on information provided by more than 30 regional and international collaborating centres The book presents a region by region analysis of the state of the world s environment highlighting key global concerns and making recommendations for policy action The regions covered include Africa Asia and the Pacific Europe and Central Asia Latin America and the Caribbean North America West Asia and the Polar Areas Chapter 1 Global Perspectives describes the main drivers of environmental change such as the economy population growth political organization and regionalization as well as potential impacts of recent global developments including the growth of the consumer culture trade and international debt Chapter 2 The State of the Environment provides a global and region by region overview of the environment at the end of the second millennium The chapter covers global issues such as ozone climate change El Nifio and nitrogen loading and universal issues of land and food forests biodiversity freshwater marine and coastal areas atmosphere and urban areas Chapter 3 Policy Responses reviews the broad range of policy instruments and responses being used to address environmental issues including multilateral environmental agreements and analyses the difficulties of compliance implementation and assessment Chapter 4 Future Perspectives looks at environmental issues that will require priority attention in the 21st century and some alternative policy options that could be used in the regions Chapter 5 Outlook and Recommendations makes recommendations for future action based on the environmental legacy left by past and present policy and management systems GEO 2000 will be the benchmark reference and guide to the state of the global environment Written in clear non technical language and supported throughout by informative graphics and tables it is essential reading for all those involved in environmental policy making implementation and assessment and for researchers and students of regional and global environmental issues Originally published in 1999

The Balancing of Interests in Environmental Law in Africa Willemien Du Plessis, 2011 Now that economic development is starting to pick up in many countries in Africa the question arises how such development can be balanced with the need for adequate environmental protection This crucial issue inherent in the notion of sustainable development is addressed in this innovative and path breaking volume For the first time academics from seventeen African countries have joined forces to analyse the way in which economic and environmental interests are balanced in their legal systems The authors all use a common framework to improve the comparability of the country studies The different country related chapters do not only provide insights into the formally applicable legal rules law in the books but given that the book brings together academics aware of the practice in Africa they also describe the way in which environmental policy functions in practice law in action Many case studies with conceptual analyses are provided of pollution incidents and the way in which administrative agencies or courts have on those occasions balanced the interests between the economy society and the environment A critical comparative analysis by the editors points at tendencies towards convergence and points of divergence between the African countries Suggestions for policy reform are also formulated showing African countries how they can benefit from experiences in the US and Europe

This thought provoking volume is a must for anyone academic policymaker or practitioner interested in sustainable development generally and in Africa in particular P 4 of cover Africa United Nations Environment Programme,2008 This stunning 400 page Atlas is a unique and powerful publication which brings to light stories of environmental change at more than 100 locations spread across every country in Africa There are more than 300 satellite images 300 ground photographs and 150 maps along with informative graphs and charts that give a vivid visual portrayal of Africa and its changing environment that provide scientific evidence of the impact that natural and human activities have had on the continent s environment over the past several decades The observations and measurements of environmental change help gauge the extent of progress made by African countries towards reaching the United Nation s Millennium Development Goals More importantly this book contributes to the knowledge and understanding that are essential for adaptation and remediation and should be of immense value to all those who want to know more about Africa and who care about the future of this continent

Global Environment Outlook 3 United Nations Environment Programme,2002 Integrating environment and development 1972 2002 State of the environment and policy retrospective 1972 2002 Human vulnerability to environmental change Outlook 2002 32 Options for action Global Environment Outlook 2000 United Nations Environment Programme,1999 This volume provides a comprehensive and detailed analysis of the conditions of the global environment highlighting key global concerns and making recommendations for policy action Comparative Perspectives on Environmental Policies and Issues Robert A. Dible,2014-01-10 Comparative Perspectives on Environmental Policies and Issues presents tools and concepts about environmental policies in several developed and developing countries It explores a broad survey of ecological modernization theory ecological feminism theory environmental justice theory the concept of sustainability and research on environmental policies Data were collected through surveys interviews and focus groups and are used to analyze social economic and environmental impact on people The book specifically discusses how the earth s basic life supporting capital soils forests species fresh water and oceans is degraded or depleted to provide for human needs and how air pollution and acid precipitation are causing widespread injury to humans forests and crops Realistically over taxing of natural resources and ecological systems throughout the world has promoted economic growth and created increasing opportunities for people while also advancing social injustice The use of the environment to accomplish social and economic transformation raises fundamental issues for the study of environmental policy and the natural ecological system As human beings exploit the natural environment to meet present needs they often will destroy resources needed for the future generations Thus environmental policies are enacted to ensure that social and economic impacts of the environment are compatible with the limits of natural systems Offering an intuitive and crystal clear explanation of the key concepts and principles of environmental policies and sustainable development this volume is suitable not only for environmental science students but also for instructors practitioners researchers and academics Climate Change and the Coast Bruce Glavovic,Mick

Kelly, Robert Kay, Ailbhe Travers, 2014-12-04 Coastal communities are at the frontline of a changing climate Escalating problems created by sea level rise a greater number of severe coastal storms and other repercussions of climate change will exacerbate already pervasive impacts resulting from rapid coastal population growth and intensification of development To prosper in the coming decade

ASEAN Environmental Legal Integration Koh Kheng-Lian, Nicholas A. Robinson, Lye Lin-Heng, 2016-04-08 While the environmental performance of most ASEAN member states is above the world average ASEAN nations will continue to face growing environmental challenges due to pressures exerted on them such as population growth urbanization and industrialization The authors of this book look at how the member states of ASEAN employ law as a means of regional integration within the context of environmental conservation While the goal of new laws is to implement sustainable development it continues to be an ongoing adaptive process since clear and immediate answers to environmental challenges are rarely available Readers of this book will gain a clear idea of the evolving cooperation for sustainability within ASEAN at regional and global levels and the areas of focus for the future The book will be of interest to policy and decision makers as well as environmental organizations and academics in the field
