Jacob Serenius, 1757 On the Bullet Train with Emily Brontë Judith Pascoe, 2019-01-23 While teaching in Japan Judith Pascoe was fascinated to discover the popularity that Emily Brontë's novel Wuthering Heights has enjoyed there Nearly 100 years after its first formal introduction to the country the novel continues to engage the imaginations of Japanese novelists filmmakers manga artists and others resulting in numerous translations adaptations and dramatizations On the Bullet Train with Emily Brontë is Pascoe's lively account of her quest to discover the reasons for the continuous Japanese embrace of Wuthering Heights including quite varied and surprising adaptations of the novel At the same time the book chronicles Pascoe's experience as an adult student of Japanese She contemplates the multiple Japanese translations of Brontë as contrasted to the single or non-existent English translations of major Japanese writers Carrying out a close reading of a distant country's Wuthering Heights Pascoe begins to see American literary culture as a small island on which readers are isolated from foreign literature In this and in her previous book The Sarah Siddons Audio Files Pascoe's engaging narrative innovates a new scholarly form involving immersive research practice to attempt a cross cultural version of reader response criticism On the Bullet Train with Emily Bront will appeal to scholars in the fields of 19th century British literature adaptation studies and Japanese literary history

The American Encyclopædic Dictionary, 1896 A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles, 1919 The American Encyclopaedic Dictionary, 1895 Nonsmooth Mechanics Bernard Brogliato, 2012-12-06 Thank you for opening the second edition of this monograph which is devoted to the study of a class of nonsmooth dynamical systems of the general form $\dot{x} = f(x, u)$ where $x \in \mathbb{R}^n$ is the system's state vector $u \in \mathbb{R}^m$ is the vector of inputs and the function f represents a unilateral constraint that is imposed on the state. More precisely we shall restrict ourselves to a subclass of such systems namely mechanical systems subject to unilateral constraints on the position whose dynamical equations may be in a first instance written as $M\ddot{q} = F(q, \dot{q}, t)$ where $q \in \mathbb{R}^n$ is the vector of generalized coordinates of the system and u is an input or controller that generally involves a state feedback loop $u = u(q, \dot{q}, t)$ with $z \in \mathbb{R}^k$ when the controller is a dynamic state feedback. Mechanical systems composed of rigid bodies interacting fall into this subclass. A general property of systems as in (1) and (2) is that their solutions are nonsmooth with respect to time. Nonsmoothness arises primarily from the occurrence of impacts or collisions or percussions in the dynamical behaviour when the trajectories attain the surface $f(x, t) = 0$. They are necessary to keep the trajectories within the subspace $x \in \mathbb{R}^n$ of the system's state space. A New Companion to Homer Ian Morris, Barry B. Powell, 1997 This volume is the first English language survey of Homeric studies to appear for more than a generation and the first such work to attempt to cover all fields comprehensively. Thirty leading scholars from Europe and America provide short authoritative overviews of the state of knowledge and current controversies in the many specialist divisions in Homeric studies. The chapters pay equal attention to literary, mythological, linguistic, historical and archaeological topics ranging from such long established problems as the Homeric Question to newer issues like the relevance of narratology and computer assisted quantification. The collection, the third publication in Brill's handbook series The Classical Tradition will be valuable at every level of study from the general student of literature to the Homeric specialist seeking a general understanding of the latest developments across the whole range of Homeric scholarship. A New French-English General Dictionary Alexander Spiers, 1908
