Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Team Sports: Contextualizing Training and Competition Demands

Miguel-Angel Gomez-Ruano, Pierpaolo Sansone, Vincenzo Rago, 2024-12-04 Team sports performance is determined by the complex non linear interaction of several factors including physical and physiological aspects technical tactical constraints mental demands perceptual and emotional aspects and contextual and environmental factors The influence of each of these aspects has been previously investigated However studies have often employed monodimensional perspectives looking at one or only a few different domains concurrently In football and rugby extensive efforts have been produced to contextualize the demands of training and competition based on players characteristics tactical constraints and contextual factors This information facilitates coaches in selecting the most appropriate training and competition strategies based on a number of different factors including the team and the opponents characteristics technical tactical abilities fitness status and considering contextual factors Differently there is a lack of information on contextualized competition demands in other team sports such as basketball handball futsal and volleyball Furthermore the mental demands and psychological and emotional implications of team sports have received little or monodimensional attention limiting the applicability of findings in real life scenarios where a multitude of factors belonging to different disciplines e.g. physiology, psychology, training science, social sciences need to be taken into account

Impacts and Implications for the Sports Industry in the Post-COVID-19 Era

Faganel, Armand, Rižnar, Igor, Baruca, Arne, 2021-06-25 The sports industry had impressive global growth over the years with factors from the introduction of e sports and new streaming and viewing methods to sponsorships and digital media contributing to its rise. However, the COVID-19 pandemic brought upon a rapid change in this sector. Sports seasons ended abruptly, people's escape from reality suddenly vanished, their spending attitudes changed, live games and commercial flights were suspended, hotels were impossible to book, and consumers practically turned into prisoners within their own homes. No live sports matches were to follow on any media; either so specialized sports channels were forced to play old recordings rather than broadcasting new events. Even athletes themselves struggle to stay relevant and thus try to utilize creative methods to enhance their brand value in these difficult times. With most of the sports leagues shut down during the pandemic, with a few exceptions which performed in empty venues, the restrictions diminished the sports experience compared to the pre-COVID-19 era, and the impacts were widespread. Impacts and Implications for the Sports Industry in the Post-COVID-19 Era explores the changes that have been and will continue to be created by the unexpected disruptions that occurred as a result of the pandemic within the sports industry: fans' consumption and recreational habits. The chapters explore the status of sports after the pandemic, paths to recovery, and the future of sports along with the many impacts and issues that have arisen due to changes in the industry necessitated by COVID-19. Covering important topics such as mental health impacts on athletes and coaches, the market value for professional sports, consumer behavior during COVID-19, and the changes in marketing, tourism, and business, this book is ideally intended for sports managers, marketers, broadcasting agencies, media specialists, brand managers, fitness professionals, practitioners, stakeholders, researchers, academicians, and students interested in the impacts on the sports industry and the outlook for sports in the post-COVID-19 era.

Globalized Sport Management in Diverse Cultural Contexts

James J. Zhang, Brenda G. Pitts, 2019-04-05 Cross-cultural management is an important facet of the globalized sport industry. Sport managers must be skilled at working with individuals from diverse cultures and aware of the key issues affecting sport on a global level. This book brings together cutting-edge research from leading sport scholars from around the world to illuminate some of those important issues and to demonstrate what cross-cultural management looks like in a sporting context. Presenting case studies from countries as diverse as the US, Brazil, Poland, and Venezuela, and across a range of sports from football to basketball, the book presents new empirical material derived from a range of inquiry protocols including both qualitative and quantitative methods. It offers critical analyses of cross cultural and managerial issues in key areas such as group cohesiveness group communications and misperception and misinterpretation Making an important contribution to our understanding of both theory and practice in sport management this book is fascinating reading for any student researcher or practitioner with an interest in global and international sport
