Archive Marina Rustow, 2020-01-14 A compelling look at the Fatimid caliphate's robust culture of documentation The lost archive of the Fatimid caliphate 909-1171 survived in an unexpected place the storage room or geniza of a synagogue in Cairo recycled as scrap paper and deposited there by medieval Jews Marina Rustow tells the story of this extraordinary find inviting us to reconsider the longstanding but mistaken consensus that before 1500 the dynasties of the Islamic Middle East produced few documents and preserved even fewer Beginning with government documents before the Fatimids and paper's westward spread across Asia Rustow reveals a millennial tradition of state record keeping whose very continuities suggest the strength of Middle Eastern institutions not their weakness Tracing the complex routes by which Arabic documents made their way from Fatimid palace officials to Jewish scribes the book provides a rare window onto a robust culture of documentation and archiving not only comparable to that of medieval Europe but in many cases surpassing it Above all Rustow argues that the problem of archives in the medieval Middle East lies not with the region's administrative culture but with our failure to understand preindustrial documentary ecology Illustrated with stunning examples from the Cairo Geniza this compelling book advances our understanding of documents as physical artifacts showing how the records of the Fatimid caliphate once recovered deciphered and studied can help change our thinking about the medieval Islamic world and about premodern polities more broadly Theoretical Ecology Ryan Chisholm, 2025-09-09 An accessible and wide ranging introduction to the concepts and tools of theoretical ecology Theoretical ecology explores the mechanisms that structure ecological communities using a variety of mathematical and computational tools Theoretical Ecology shows you how to translate ecological problems into mechanistic models using both mathematics and the programming language R The book teaches key concepts and core quantitative skills while also devoting significant attention to the reasons for building mathematical ecological models Why do species populations fluctuate over time and space How do multiple species coexist What forces drive nutrient and carbon cycles Does higher species diversity lead to higher biomass Each chapter in this incisive and informative book is motivated by questions like these and every chapter includes boxes that delve into mathematical details and provide coding examples in R Focuses on mathematical and computational methods while also drawing on conceptual and graphical approaches and explores how the various approaches complement one another Teaches students the skills they need to implement and analyze ecological models in R Covers topics ranging from single species competition and predator prey models to community ecology island biogeography and nutrient flux models Provides exercises of graduated difficulty at the end of every chapter Ideal for advanced undergraduate and graduate classrooms and for independent study Includes a road map for class planning and self study
