Side Management for Flexible Operation of Sustainable Power Networks Jelena Ponoćko, 2020-01-27 This thesis deals with two important and very timely aspects of the future power system operation assessment of demand flexibility and advanced demand side management DSM facilitating flexible and secure operation of the power network It provides a clear and comprehensive literature review in these two areas and states precisely the original contributions of the research The book first demonstrates the benefits of data mining for a reliable assessment of demand flexibility and its composition even with very limited observability of the end users It then illustrates the importance of accurate load modelling for efficient application of DSM and considers different criteria in designing DSM programme to achieve several objectives of the network performance simultaneously Finally it demonstrates the importance of considering realistic assumptions when planning and estimating the success of DSM programs The findings presented here have both scientific and practical significance they gained her BSc and MSc degrees in electrical engineering from the University of Belgrade in 2011 and 2012 respectively She graduated with her PhD from the University of Manchester She has presented at several conferences and has won runner up prizes in poster presentation at three She has authored or co authored more than 40 journal conference and technical papers provide a basis for further research and can be used to guide future applications in industry

Planning, Housing and Infrastructure for Smart Villages Hemanta Doloi, Ray Green, Sally Donovan, 2018-12-07 Some 7.3 billion people currently live on the planet Of these 3.4 billion live in rural areas In just a few regions Latin America the Middle East and North Africa less than 50 per cent of poverty is now located in rural areas But for the rest of the world s

regions between 55 per cent and 80 per cent of the poor continue to live in the countryside Progress is being made but much of the knowhow needed is not disseminated outside of a small coterie of professionals who work in the area With urban development attracting a great deal of attention lately poorer rural areas deserve the same and new knowledge for empowerment of rural communities is urgently needed This book provides an overview of current thinking and practices that have emerged over the last thirty years for uplifting rural communities in developing economies Drawing on a body of knowledge across a spectrum of relevant disciplines this book provides a range of innovative ideas for rural planning housing and infrastructure development Governments in many emerging economies where rural poverty is often most acute have attempted to improve livelihoods Approaches and techniques that have been used for urban development are often not applicable to rural communities Studies show that money allocated for rural development is often not effectively spent due to distance lack of infrastructure lack of education poverty and other factors Meanwhile the gap in development between the city and country continues to grow sometimes leading to social and political instability in both developing and developed countries This book seeks to provide a guidebook for meeting such challenges Through in depth enquiry of global practices and thinking about rural development and selected case studies the authors argue that careful consideration must be given to incorporating issues of resilience resourcefulness and the involvement of communities at grassroots levels in realising the transformation of rural settlements into Smart Villages
