PASSAGE AND QUESTIONS WITH ANSWER

THE WHISPERING SHADOWS

On a chilly October night, as the wind howled through the pine trees of Willow Creek, the old Thompson house stood silent and dark. It was said to be haunted, especially on Halloween. The townspeople often told stories of legends whispered of shadows that moved on their own, voices that could be heard even when no one was there. Brenda and her friend Liam had heard these stories at their school, but they had never seen them. That Halloween night, they decided to go outside to look. They were determined to see if the stories were true. As they crept up the creaking stone steps, a strange feeling came over them. The door opened on its own, revealing a dark hall filled with shadows. Their flashlight beams pierced the dark as they walked, but the walls seemed to pulse with the wind of dust and something else. In the daylight, they saw portraits on the walls of people and hollow eyes. As they walked further into the house, they heard whispers. At first, they thought it was just the wind howling, calling their names.

Suddenly, a shadow started across the hallway. Liam saw his face pale. "Did you see that?" he whispered. He knew Brenda could hear him. They heard footsteps, not just coming to move but a figure slowly emerging from the darkness. A woman in a long, tattered dress, her face hidden in shadow. She looked down at the ground, her feet not seeming to touch. "You shouldn't be here," she murmured in a voice that seemed to come from everywhere. Brenda and Liam turned and ran, their footsteps echoing on the floor. When they reached the street, they looked back and saw once more. No one believed them, but they had seen - and they never returned to the
