American Infographics 2016 Gareth Cook,Robert Krulwich,2016-10-04 When it comes to infographics the best work in this field grabs those eyes keeps them glued and the grip is sensual and often immediate A good graphic says See what I see and either you do or you don t The best ones pull you right in and won t let you go From the introduction by Robert Krulwich The year s most awesome RedOrbit infographics reveal aspects of our world in often startling ways from a haunting graphic mapping the journey of 15 790 slave ships over 315 years to a yearlong data drawing project on postcards that records and cements a trans Atlantic friendship The Best American Infographics 2016 covers the realms of social issues health sports arts and culture and politics including crisp visual data on the likely Democratic Republican leanings of an array of professions proving that your urologist is far more likely to be a Republican than your pediatrician Here once again are the most innovative print and electronic infographics the full spectrum of the genre from authoritative to playful Scientific American ROBERT KRULWICH is the cohost of Radiolab and a science correspondent for NPR He writes draws and cartoons at Curiously Krulwich where he synthesizes scientific concepts into colorful one of a kind blog posts He has won several Emmy awards for his work on television and has been called the most inventive network reporter in television by TV Guide

Critical Visualization Peter A. Hall,Patricio Dávila,2022-12-01 Information may be beautiful but our decisions about the data we choose to represent and how we represent it are never neutral This insightful history traces how data visualization accompanied modern technologies of war colonialism and the management of social issues of poverty health and crime The discussion is based around examples of visualization from the ancient Andean information technology of the quipu to contemporary projects that show the fate of our rubbish and take a participatory approach to visualizing cities This analysis places visualization in its theoretical and cultural contexts and provides a critical framework for understanding the history of information design with new directions for contemporary practice

New Challenges for Data Design David Bihanic, 2014-12-27 The present work provides a platform for leading Data designers whose vision and creativity help us to anticipate major changes occurring in the Data Design field and pre-empt the future Each of them strives to provide new answers to the question What challenges await Data Design To avoid falling into too narrow a mind set each works hard to elucidate the breadth of Data Design today and to demonstrate its widespread application across a variety of business sectors With end users in mind designer contributors bring to light the myriad of purposes for which the field was originally intended forging the bond even further between Data Design and the aims and intentions of those who contribute to it The first seven parts of the book outline the scope of Data Design and presents a line up of viewpoints that highlight this discipline's main topics and offers an in-depth look into practices boasting both foresight and imagination The eighth and final part features a series of interviews with Data designers and artists whose methods embody originality and marked singularity As a result a number of enlightening concepts and bright ideas unfold within the confines of this book to help dispel the thick fog around this new and still relatively unknown discipline A plethora of equally eye-opening and edifying new terms words and key expressions also unfurl Informing influencing and inspiring are just a few of the buzz words belonging to an initiative that is first and foremost a creative one not to mention the possibility to discern the ever-changing and naturally complex nature of today's datasphere Providing an invaluable and cutting-edge resource for design researchers this work is also intended for students professionals and practitioners involved in Data Design Interaction Design Digital Media Design Data Information Visualization Computer Science and Engineering
