Writing Comments For Handwriting For Report Cards:

The Writing Report Card, 1984-88 Arthur N. Applebee, 1990 Based on two national assessments of the writing proficiency of representative samples of students in grades 4 8 and 11 conducted during the school years ending in 1984 and 1988 this report assesses the informative persuasive and imaginative writing performance of the nation's students and tracks changes in performance over time The first three chapters of the report describe student performance on the informative persuasive and imaginative writing tasks included in the writing trend assessments based on the results of the primary trait and holistic analyses The fourth chapter summarizes trends in average task accomplishment for the nation and various demographic subpopulations In the fifth chapter trends in students grammar punctuation and spelling are discussed The sixth chapter discusses factors that appear to be related to writing performance such as students instructional experiences and home environment The report concludes that despite some progress on some tasks students writing performance across tasks remains low and has changed little across time The report also finds that the extent to which students at all grade levels value writing use it in their own lives and engage in writing process activities remains quite limited A procedural appendix and an appendix of data are attached RS Jumbo Book of Teacher Tips and Timesavers Denise Dodds

Why Bright Kids Get Poor Grades and what You Can Do about it Sylvia B. Rimm, 2008 Millions of gifted children fail to reach their potential something Dr Sylvia Rimm calls underachievement syndrome Drawing on clinical research and experience counseling families of gifted children Dr Rimm has developed a six step program that provides everything you need to know to turn your child's underachievement into success Resources in Education, 1998 The Writing

Report Card Arthur N. Applebee, Judith A. Langer, Ina V. S. Mullis, 1986 Based on the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP 1984 assessment of the writing achievement of American school children this report presents national and demographic subgroup achievement results for students in grades four eight and eleven and discusses students attitudes toward writing and instruction The first chapter describes the tasks and evaluation criteria used in the study and highlights results of the study including the following 1 although many students appeared to know the basic elements of analytic writing such writing was difficult for students in all grades 2 while most students could express their points of view in persuasive writing many had difficulty providing evidence for those viewpoints 3 students had less difficulty with tasks requiring short responses based on personal experience 4 students found it moderately difficult to write well developed stories 5 home environment is related to writing achievement 6 students who indicated writing three or more reports and essays during a 6 week period had higher achievement levels than students who reported not writing during that time period 7 students positive attitudes toward writing deteriorate steadily across the grades 8 students reported that their teachers are more likely to mark mistakes than to show an interest in what they write or to make suggestions for the next paper and 9 content area writing increases between grades four and eight and decreases again in senior high school The next four chapters provide specific achievement data by grade level for informative persuasive and imaginative writing and for writing performance among various demographic subgroups The remaining three chapters focus on students responses to questions concerning writing and writing instruction specifically their values and attitudes toward writing how they manage the writing process and what they write and the help they receive HTH
