Modern Glass Characterization Mario Affatigato, 2015-09-10 The book consists of a series of edited chapters each written by an expert in the field and focusing on a particular characterization technique as applied to glass. The book covers a variety of techniques ranging from the very common like Raman and FTIR to the most recent and less well known ones like SEM for structural analysis and photoelastic measurements. The level of the chapters make it suitable for researchers and for graduate students about to start their research work. It will also discuss the technique itself, background, nuances when it comes to looking at glassy materials, interpretation of results, case studies and recent and near future innovations. Fill a widening gap in modern techniques for glass characterization. Provide much needed updates on the multiple essential characterization techniques.

Stand alone chapters set out in a manner that is meaningful to non specialists, progressing to include knowledge useful to experts. New fully revised and updated chapters on areas of intense research activity or great importance. Providing definitions of intermetallic families intended to assist all readers. Written for clarity, consistency and thoroughness. Full and up to date referencing to the literature. Critical assessments of the state of the subject.
