Liu, 2010-06-10 Thinking Chinese Translation is a practical and comprehensive course for advanced undergraduates and postgraduate students of Chinese. Thinking Chinese Translation explores the ways in which memory, general knowledge and creativity summed up as schema contribute to the linguistic ability necessary to create a good translation. The course develops the reader's ability to think deeply about the texts and to produce natural and accurate translations from Chinese into English. A wealth of relevant illustrative material is presented taking the reader through a number of different genres and text types of increasing complexity including technical, scientific and legal texts, journalistic and informative texts, literary and dramatic texts. Each chapter provides a discussion of the issues of a particular text type based on up to date scholarship followed by practical translation exercises. The chapters can be read independently as research material or in combination with the exercises. The issues discussed range from the fine detail of the text such as punctuation to the broader context of editing, packaging and publishing translations.
