valuable source in support of teaching and research agendas Reliability and Risk Nozer D. Singpurwalla, 2006-08-14 We all like to know how reliable and how risky certain situations are and our increasing reliance on technology has led to the need for more precise assessments than ever before Such precision has resulted in efforts both to sharpen the notions of risk and reliability and to quantify them Quantification is required for normative decision making especially decisions pertaining to our safety and wellbeing Increasingly in recent years Bayesian methods have become key to such quantifications Reliability and Risk provides a comprehensive overview of the mathematical and statistical aspects of risk and reliability analysis from a Bayesian perspective This book sets out to change the way in which we think about reliability and survival analysis by casting them in the broader context of decision making This is achieved by Providing a broad coverage of the diverse aspects of reliability including multivariate failure models dynamic reliability event history analysis non parametric Bayes competing risks co operative and competing systems and signature analysis Covering the essentials of Bayesian statistics and exchangeability enabling readers who are unfamiliar with Bayesian inference to benefit from the book Introducing the notion of composite reliability or the collective reliability of a population of items Discussing the relationship between notions of reliability and survival analysis and econometrics and financial risk Reliability and Risk can most profitably be used by practitioners and research workers in reliability and survivability as a source of information reference and open problems It can also form the basis of a graduate level course in reliability and risk analysis for students in statistics biostatistics engineering industrial nuclear systems operations research and other mathematically oriented scientists wherein the instructor could supplement the material with examples and problems Nonparametric Analysis of Univariate Heavy-Tailed Data Natalia Markovich, 2008-03-11 Heavy tailed distributions are typical for phenomena in complex multi component systems such as biometry economics ecological systems sociology web access statistics internet traffic biblio metrics finance and business The analysis of such distributions requires special methods of estimation due to their specific features These are not only the slow decay to zero of the tail but also the violation of Cramer s condition possible non existence of some moments and sparse observations in the tail of the distribution The book focuses on the methods of statistical analysis of heavy tailed independent identically distributed random variables by empirical samples of moderate sizes It provides a detailed survey of classical results and recent developments in the theory of nonparametric estimation of the probability density function the tail index the hazard rate and the renewal function Both asymptotical results for example convergence rates of the estimates and results for the samples of moderate sizes supported by Monte Carlo investigation are considered The text is illustrated by the application of the considered methodologies to real data of web traffic measurements Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing Jürgen Hesselbach, Christoph Herrmann, 2011-03-19 The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 continues a long tradition of scientific meetings focusing on the exchange of industrial and academic knowledge and experiences in life cycle assessment product development sustainable manufacturing and end of life management The theme Globalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing addresses the need for engineers to develop solutions which have the potential to address global challenges by providing products services and processes taking into account local capabilities and constraints to achieve an economically socially and environmentally sustainable society in a global perspective Globalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing do not only involve products or services that are changed for a local market by simple substitution or the omitting of functions Products and services need to be addressed that ensure a high standard of living everywhere Resources required for manufacturing and use of such products are limited and not evenly distributed in the world Locally available resources local capabilities as well as local constraints have to be drivers for product and process innovations with respect to the entire life cycle The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 serves as a platform for the discussion of the resulting challenges and the collaborative development of new scientific ideas
