- The diagram illustrates the workflow of a mobile construction application. It shows a worker using a tablet to capture data, which is then processed by a central system (represented by a server rack) and stored in a database. The data is then used to generate reports and update the database. The workflow is divided into three main stages: Data Collection, Data Processing, and Data Reporting.
- Data Collection: The worker uses the tablet to capture data, which is then processed by the central system.
 - Data Processing: The central system processes the data and stores it in the database.
 - Data Reporting: The data is used to generate reports and update the database.
