with the case of South Africa which has experienced widespread popular resistance for more than a decade Combining critical theoretical perspectives with extensive qualitative fieldwork and rich case studies Southern Resistance in Critical Perspective situates South Africa's contentious democracy in relation to both the economic insecurity of contemporary global capitalism and the constantly shifting political terrain of post apartheid nationalism The analysis integrates worker community and political party organizing into a broader narrative of resistance bridging historical divisions between social movement studies labor studies and political sociology

Deanship in the Global South Oliver J.J. Seale, 2021-02-08 The university today is a postmodern neo liberal competitive boundary less knowledge conglomerate a far cry from its historical traditional classical and collegial roots There is a body of literature on deanship that points to its evolving nature in the contemporary academe characterised by complexity and change Balancing academic demands simultaneously with the requirements for effective performance leadership and management lies at the heart of this very challenging bridging role nowadays Deans are generally former academics emerging from a traditional collegial space and often catapulted into the relatively unknown domain of executive management with its related problems Deans nowadays are required to be more than collegial intellectual leaders They are also meant to be fiscal and human resource experts fundraisers politicians and diplomats Deanship in the Global South Bridging Troubled Waters is about the deans lived reality as they try to balance the demands of both the academe from which they emerge and the administration to whom they now need to account Their lack of preparation and inadequate support points to the need for a more strategic integrated approach to leadership development within their critical bridging roles between the academe and administration

The A to Z of Careers in South Africa ,2006 Handbook of Pleistocene Archaeology of Africa Amanuel Beyin,David K. Wright,Jayne Wilkins,Deborah I. Olszewski,2023-08-17 This handbook showcases an Africa wide compendium of Stone Age archaeological sites and methodological advances that have improved our understanding of hominin lifeways and biogeography in the continent. The focal time spans the Pleistocene Epoch c. 2.5 million to 11,700 years ago during which important human traits such as obligate bipedalism that freed the hands to engage in creative activities, a large brain relative to body size, language and social complexity developed in the general forms that they are found today. The handbook is the first of its kind and it is expected to play a significant role in human evolutionary research by collating the African Stone Age record which exists in a fragmented state along the lines of national boundaries and colonial experiences. Showcasing emerging conceptual and methodological advances in African Pleistocene archaeology. Providing reference datasets for teaching and researching African prehistory. Making Africa's Stone Age record accessible to researchers and students based in Africa who may not have access to journal publications where most new field discoveries are published. The Handbook features 128 chapters of which 116 are site entries grouped by the host countries and presented in an alphabetical order. A number of those site-related entries examine multiple archaeological localities lumped under specific projects or study areas. The rest of the contributions deal with methodological topics such as luminescence and radiocarbon dating, field data recovery, lithic analysis, micromorphology and hominin fossil and zooarchaeological records of Pleistocene Africa. The introductory chapter provides an historical overview of the development of Stone Age/Paleolithic archaeology in Africa beginning in the mid 19th century and paleoenvironmental and chronological frameworks commonly used to structure the continent's Pleistocene record. By making a good amount of African Stone Age literature accessible to researchers and the public, we wish to promote interest in human evolutionary research in the continent and elsewhere. Awarded the 2025 Best Book Award by The Society of Africanist Archaeologists. South Africa Yearbook, 2009. Crossing the Human Threshold. Matt Pope, John McNabb, Clive Gamble, 2017-11-22. When was the human threshold crossed? What is the evidence for evolving humans and their emerging humanity? This volume explores in a global overview the archaeology of the Middle Pleistocene, 800,000 to 130,000 years ago, when evidence for innovative cultural behaviour appeared. The evidence shows that the threshold was crossed slowly by a variety of human ancestors and was not confined to one part of the Old World. Crossing the Human Threshold examines the changing evidence during this period for the use of place, landscape and technology. It focuses on the emergence of persistent places and associated developments in tool use, hunting strategies and the control of fire represented across the Old World by deeply stratified cave sites. These include the most important sites for the archaeology of human origins in the Levant, South Africa, Asia and Europe, presented here as evidence for innovation in landscape thinking during the Middle Pleistocene. The volume also examines persistence at open locales through a cutting-edge review of the archaeology of Northern France and England. Crossing the Human Threshold is for the worldwide community of students and researchers studying early hominins and human evolution. It presents new archaeological data. It frames the evidence within current debates to understand the differences and similarities between ourselves and our ancient
