Managing Pharmaceuticals in International Health Stuart

Anderson, Reinhard Huss, Rob Summers, Karin Wiedenmayer, 2012-12-06 One third of the world's population lack effective access to quality assured essential medicines used rationally When WHO first made this statement fifteen years ago there was general concern that medical miracles such as antibiotics antiparasitic medicines vaccines and analgesics would not be available to many people Today the proportion of those lacking access is lower in Asia and Latin America and higher in Africa but there are probably about two billion people in this situation This book describes the many problems involved and then puts together possible solutions based on country experiences in a comprehensive and coherent manner Many people lack access to essential medicines because they and their countries are poor and because of inefficiencies in their health systems We know that in low and middle income countries between 25 and 40 per cent of health expenditure is on medicines and that most of that expenditure is out of pocket Often this amounts to less than US 2 per head per year In contrast high income countries spend only 8 to 15 per cent of health expenditure on medicines and this is mostly paid for by health insurance or social security funds High income country expenditure may be over US 400 per person per year So managing the scanty resources available in low income countries becomes all the more important Essential Clinical Global Health, Includes Wiley E-Text Brett D.
