South African Graduation Songs:

Anabaptist Songs in African Hearts John Lapp, 2006-10-01 When church histories of Africa have been written they've usually been done by Westerners. These writers have typically been missionaries or relief workers; their analyses and conclusions have reflected those perspectives. This book, by contrast, is written by Africans. Each writer is an African church leader or pastor and they write about the emergence and development of the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches in the countries from which they come. The story of God's work in Africa did not begin with the arrival of the missionaries but rather from the African perspective their arrival continued, reinterpreted and re-shaped. An ancient story begins; this honest collection of themes of the churches claiming their particular expressions of faith of achieving self-reliance of coping with difficult governments of discovering their gifts despite their material poverty thread through the book. Anabaptist Songs in African Hearts is the third edition of the first volume in the Global Mennonite History Series. The Drumcafé's Traditional Music of South Africa Laurie Levine, 2005 Track list for accompanying CD p. 266-273. African Oral Literature Russell Kaschula, 2001 Throughout Africa oral literature is flourishing though it is perceived by some as anachronistic to the modern world. This work refutes this idea in its entirety by presenting 22 chapters which firmly place the study of oral literature within contemporary African existence. The study analyzes how oral literature relates to media, music, technology, text, gender, religion, power, politics and globalization. Readings in African Popular Culture Karin Barber, 1997 This is an extraordinarily rich collection full of informative detail and excellent interpretative analysis. There is not a single piece that fails to fascinate. Leeds African Studies Bulletin an impressive collection of inspiring and thought-provoking essays. Media Development This is a book that should find its way into many syllabuses and onto the bookshelves of Africanist scholars in many disciplines. Its publication marks a key turning point in scholarship on the cultures of contemporary Africa. Africa Today This book surveys the popular culture of contemporary Africa including popular literature, oral narrative and poetry, dance, drama, music and visual art with special emphasis on the verbal arts. The essays cover six main areas: views of the field, oral tradition, revisited social history, social criticism and interpretation, women in popular culture, little genres of everyday life, the local and the global. Sounding the Cape Denis Martin, 2013 For several centuries Cape Town has accommodated a great variety of musical genres which have usually been associated with specific population groups living in and around the city. Musical styles and genres produced in Cape Town have therefore been assigned an identity which is first and foremost social. This volume tries to question the relationship established between musical styles and genres and social in this case pseudo-racial identities. In Sounding the Cape Denis Constant Martin recomposes and examines through the theoretical prism of creolisation the history of music in Cape Town, deploying analytical tools borrowed from the most recent studies of identity configurations. He demonstrates that musical creation in the Mother City and in South Africa has always been nurtured by contacts, exchanges and innovations whatever the efforts made by racist powers to separate and divide people according to their origin Musicians interviewed at the dawn of the 21st century confirm that mixture and blending characterise all Cape Town s musics They also emphasise the importance of a rhythmic pattern particular to Cape Town the ghoema beat whose origins are obviously mixed The study of music demonstrates that the history of Cape Town and of South Africa as a whole undeniably fostered creole societies Yet twenty years after the collapse of apartheid these societies are still divided along lines that combine economic factors and racial categorisations Martin concludes that were music given a greater importance in educational and cultural policies it could contribute to fighting these divisions and promote the notion of a nation that in spite of the violence of racism and apartheid has managed to invent a unique common culture 100 Years of Radio in

Coplan,1994 The workers who migrate from Lesotho to the mines and cities of neighboring South Africa have developed a rich genre of sung oral poetry word music that focuses on the experiences of migrant life This music provides a culturally reflexive and consciously artistic account of what it is to be a migrant or part of a migrant s life It reveals the relationship between these Basotho workers and the local and South African powers that be the cannibals who live off of the workers
