This study aims to present ‘Young Goodman Brown’ by Nathaniel Hawthorne as a satire of Puritanism as a prejudiced and intolerable system of belief reflected in the character of Brown who is seen as the incarnation of Puritanism which sees all non-conformists as sinners. Being the incarnation of the Puritan ideology, “Brown is not just one Salem citizen of the late seventeenth century, but rather seems to typify...in a sense every [Puritan].” Brown is the spokes-person and the mouth-piece of all Puritans whose words, actions, and interactions with other characters and the setting gradually unfold the Puritan ideology into a full-fledged system of belief. In trying to establish my outlook of Puritanism, I have been basically guided by Nathaniel Hawthorne’s disapproval of Puritanism as being particularly biased and discriminative against all non-conformists. Other signals including Hawthorne’s knowledge of his Puritan ancestors have formed the basis of the study. Moreover, Brown’s intolerance and his hesitation to follow up the journey on many occasions on the account of what he saw on the journey and his determination at the end of the story of the hypocrisy of the minister in so far as belief is concerned have helped to establish my argument. All this and more support the idea that Brown is as an embodiment of Puritanism which always tends to repeal the other. I have too seen in the setting a continuous revealer of the personality of Brown. The journey through the forest deepens the conflict within his mind leading him unexpectedly to be a stern believer in God. Therefore, I have used the traditional approach to investigate Hawthorne’s experience with Puritanism by analyzing Brown’s religious conflicts and finally his unyielding stand on Puritanism. The study also shows how the non-acceptance of the other is a reflection of a bigoted belief that tends to reject others in advance on the basis of belief. This further shows how this idea of pre-judging others is related to Brown’s close attachment both to his Puritan ancestors and finally to Puritanism which are responsible for Brown’s one-way progress to the close lane. To highlight the theme of the story which goes as follows, Puritanism never gives up nor allows its followers to be lenient in favor of assimilating non-conformists, the study discusses some main elements of the story such as the setting, the plot, and symbolism which work together towards showing the work as a satire. The study also sheds light on Brown’s most critical moment, the moment when he leaped out of belief. However, the study means to assert that Brown’s slip out of belief is only a slip out of consciousness resulting from Brown’s losing balance at a moment of great mental deliriousness which immediately shows a firmer retrieval to his previous state of belief. As the study asserts, Puritanism for Brown is a matter of destiny and any deviation from Puritanism is not likely. As “Thomas E. Connolly, has remarked that Goodman Brown has not lost his faith; he has found it.”

Key words: Prejudiced, intolerable, Puritanism, incarnation, belief, deviation, hesitation, retrieval.

INTRODUCTION

Puritanism may be viewed in some of its aspects as unrelenting and one-sided. It is one of the Christian sects which looks upon its followers as the only devout and views the followers of other sects as non-conformists and finally sinners. “... they [Puritans] believed that only the truly elect [the Puritans] should be admitted to church membership, and the congregation of such persons represents the true church.” (Puritanism in America: Lecture Three, para.9) This statement which is central to the Puritan ideology definitely widens the gap among the different Christian sects on the one hand and other systems of belief on the other. By not accepting others,

A Study of Settings Appearing in "Young Goodman Brown" by Nathaniel Hawthorne Daniel Obländer, 2010-09 Seminar paper from the year 2007 in the subject English Literature Works grade 2 0 University of Heidelberg Anglistisches Seminar course Proseminar 2 Literaturwissenschaft Poe and Company language English abstract The setting of a story is just as important as the characters that act within the story No narration can stand without a setting the setting is essential and influences every narration Good settings can give a story its final touch and bad chosen settings can destroy a narration In historical narrations the setting is already given and an unchangeable part of the story line In a fictional story on the other hand the setting is part of the fiction and was entirely chosen by the narrator himself He tries to use the setting in favor of his purposes in order to make the story work Very often a setting is selected in order to make a story more authentic or to produce a certain feeling and mood within the reader However in my term paper I will focus on the settings that appear in Young Goodman Brown This is a subject that has not attracted as much attention as other parts of Young Goodman Brown but is without any doubt a very interesting field of study In my study I will try to identify the different settings of the story in diverse ways Thus it is important not only to describe the settings but also to discuss their meaning not only for the story itself but also for the people of the time when Young Goodman Brown was first published It is especially interesting to see what kind of reactions Hawthorne tried to generate with Young Goodman Brown among the Puritan population in New England of which he himself was a part The setting of the forest plays a special role in this case and shows us that people of Hawthorne s time had a different connection to their environment and to nature than we do today The early Puritans who came to New England had a very difficult relationship to their new wild and uncultivated enviro

Feathertop Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1854 Hawthorne's Wilderness: Nature and Puritanism in Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter and "Young Goodman Brown" Marina Boonyaprasop, 2013-06-01 Nathaniel Hawthorne is one of America's most noted and highly praised writers and a key figure in US literature. Although he struggled to become an acknowledged author for most parts of his life, his work stands in the limelight of the American literary consciousness. Graham 5 For he is a direct descendant of Massachusetts Bay colonists in the Puritan era of the 17th and 18th century. New England served as a lifelong preoccupation for Hawthorne and inspired many of his best-known stories. Hence, in order to understand the author and his work, it is crucial to apprehend the historical background from which his stories arose. The awareness of the Puritan legacy in Hawthorne's time and their Calvinist beliefs, which contributed to the establishment of American identity, serve as a basis for fathoming the intention behind Hawthorne's writings. His forefathers' concept of wilderness became an important part of their religious life, and in many of Hawthorne's tales, nature can be perceived as an active agent for the plot and the moral message. Therefore, it is indispensable to consider the development behind the Puritan perception as well as the prevailing opinion on nature during the writer's lifetime. After the historical background has been depicted, the author himself is focused. His ambiguous character and non-persistent lifestyle are the source of many themes which can be retrieved from his works. Thus, understanding the man behind the stories is necessary in order to analyze the tales themselves. Seclusion, nature, and Puritanism are constantly recurring topics in the author's life and work. To become familiar with Hawthorne's relation to nature, his ancestors, and religion, it is essential to understand the vast amount of symbols in his stories. His stories will be brought into focus and will be analyzed on the basis of the historical and biographical facts, and further, his particular style and purpose will be taken into consideration. The second part of this book analyzes two of the author's most eminent and esteemed works, namely Young Goodman Brown and The Scarlet Letter, in terms of nature symbolism and the underlying moral intention. Further, it is examined to which extent the images correspond to the formerly explained historical facts and Hawthorne's emphasized characteristic features. The comparison of the two works focuses on the didactic purpose for in all of his works Hawthorne's aim was to give a lesson.
