Youth Services Research Sils:

Instruction and Pedagogy for Youth in Public Libraries Casey Rawson, 2018-09-25 There seems to be little resistance to the idea that children and teens learn in public library spaces However many public librarians do not see themselves as teachers This implies that much of the learning that happens in public libraries is incidental tangential to the real purpose and design of these spaces and programs In this book we make the case that public librarians should embrace an explicit instructional role as a core part of their professional practice Inside you ll find both a comprehensive review of what is known so far about instruction for youth in public libraries and a primer on core educational concepts and frameworks for current and future public librarians Each chapter includes real world examples of libraries and librarians who are already practicing powerful teaching Journal of Youth Services in Libraries ,1998 Celebrating the James Partridge Award Diane L. Barlow, Paul T. Jaeger, 2016-12-22 Winners of the James A Partridge Outstanding African American Information Professional Award examine issues of race inclusion diversity and justice Their insights are complimented by the writings of other scholars educators and practitioners who study teach about and experience issues of race in the field firsthand Library Hotline ,2004 Human development Patricia Layzell Ward, Darlene E. School of Library Science, 1994 Libraries, Literacy, and African American Youth Sandra Hughes-Hassell, Pauletta Brown Bracy, Casey H. Rawson, 2016-10-31 This important book is a call to action for the library community to address the literacy and life outcome gaps impacting African American youth It provides strategies that enable school and public librarians to transform their services programs and collections to be more responsive to the literacy strengths experiences and needs of African American youth According to National Assessment of Educational Progress NEAP only 18 percent of African American fourth graders and 17 percent of African American eighth graders performed at or above proficiency in reading in 2013 This book draws on research from various academic fields to explore the issues surrounding African American literacy and to aid in developing culturally responsive school and library programs with the goal of helping to close the achievement gap and improve the quality of life for African American youth The book merges the work of its three authors along with the findings of other researchers and practitioners highlighting exemplary programs such as the award winning Pearl Bailey Library Program the Maker Jawn initiative at the Free Library of Philadelphia and the Blue Ribbon Mentor Advocate writing institute in the Chapel Hill Carrboro City Schools among others Readers will understand how these culturally responsive programs put theory and research based best practices into local action and see how to adapt them to meet the needs of their communities Directory [of] Officers, Faculty, and Staff and Associated Organizations University of Michigan, 1999 National Union Catalog ,1979 Includes entries for maps and atlases
