Zadie Smith Today's Writers And Their Works:

Zadie Smith Tracey Lorraine Walters, 2008 Zadie Smith Critical Essays is a timely collection of critical articles examining how Zadie Smith's novels and short stories interrogate race postcolonialism and identity. Essays explore the various ways Smith approaches issues of race either by deconstructing notions of race or interrogating the complexity of biracial identity and how Smith takes on contemporary debates concerning notions of Britishness, Englishness and Black Britishness. Some essays also consider the shifting identities adopted by those who identify with both British and West Indian, South Asian or East Asian ancestry. Other essays explore Smith's contemporary postcolonial approach to Britain's colonial legacy and the difference between how immigrants and first generation British born children deal with cultural alienation and displacement. This thought provoking collection is a much needed critical tool for students and researchers in both contemporary British literature and Diasporic literature and culture. Back cover

Feel Free Zadie Smith, 2019-02-05 WINNER OF THE NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARD, CRITICISM CATEGORY FINALIST FOR THE PEN DIAMONSTEIN SPIELVOGEL AWARD FOR THE ART OF THE ESSAY, A NEW YORK TIMES NOTABLE BOOK. A timely powerful collection of essays from one of our sharpest minds and most sparkling stylists. How much joy can a person tolerate? How many kinds of boredom make up a life? Who owns the story of black America? Should Justin Bieber be more like Socrates? And why is there a dead art collector floating in the swimming pool? Dazzlingly insightful, explosively funny and ever timely, Zadie Smith is back with a second unmissable collection of essays. From German Old Masters to the new masters of East Coast rap, from social networks opening lines of communication to national referenda closing doors, Feel Free reaches out in all directions and draws back a rich feast of ideas. Here pop culture, high culture, social change and political debate all get the Zadie Smith treatment, dissected with razor sharp intellect set brilliantly against the context of the utterly contemporary and considered with a deep humanity and compassion. With the easy intimacy of a local and the piercing clarity of an outsider, Feel Free casts a sharp critical eye over the creative luminaries that have shaped our world from J.G. Ballard to Karl Ove Knausgaard, Orson Welles to Charlie Kaufman, Joni Mitchell to Beyoncé and far beyond. And it considers the points of contact where the author herself meets this world where the political meets the personal and critique meets memoir. This electrifying new collection showcases Zadie Smith as a true literary powerhouse demonstrating once again her credentials as an essential voice of her generation.

Feel Free Zadie Smith, 2018-02-06 A collection of both previously unpublished works and classic essays includes discussions of recent cultural and political events, social networking, libraries and the failure to address global warming.

Zadie Smith, Readers of the books in Today's Writers and Their Works will learn the story behind each writer's story. Each title examines in depth the most widely read works of each author. For literature lovers, aspiring writers and those who have reports to write, there is no better source of information.

Classicisms in the Black Atlantic Ian Moyer, Adam Lecznar, Heidi Morse, 2020-01-09 The historical and cultural space of the Black Atlantic, a diasporic world of forced and voluntary migrations has long provided fertile ground for the construction and reconstruction of new forms of classicism. From the aftermath of slavery up to the present day, black authors, intellectuals, and artists in the Atlantic world have shaped and reshaped the cultural legacies of classical antiquity in a rich variety of ways in order to represent their identities and experiences and reflect on modern conceptions of race, nation, and identity. The studies presented in this volume range across the Anglophone, Francophone, and Hispanophone worlds, including literary studies of authors such as Derek Walcott, Marlene Nourbaeva, Philip and Junot Díaz, biographical and historical studies, and explorations of race and classicism in the visual arts. They offer reflections on the place of classicism in contemporary conflicts and debates over race and racism and on the intersections between classicism, race, gender, and social status, demonstrating how the legacies of ancient Greece and Rome have been used to buttress racial hierarchies but also to challenge racism and Eurocentric reconstructions of antiquity.

Women Creating Classics Emily Hauser, Helena Taylor, 2025-06-12. From Madeline Miller's The Song of Achilles (2011) to Pat Barker's The Voyage Home (2024), there has been a huge rise in women's rewritings of ancient myths and texts in recent years. Women writers are looking back to the classical past more than ever before, and there is serious public interest in women's reworkings of the ancient world. But at the same time, this is nothing new: women have been responding to the worlds of Greece and Rome for hundreds of years across many different time periods and multiple cultures and languages. This first volume in a two-volume set explores the different ways that women have retold and responded to Classics across the ages, as well as how these responses might resist or unpack the tensions inherent in notions of gender, race, canonicity, class, and cultural heritage in a context in which classical education and scholarship have been confined to the ivory tower studied by men in pursuit of an understanding of the great men of history. Looking at extraordinary women writers across thousands of years, from Sappho, Marguerite de Navarre, Lucrezia Marinella, and Renée Vivien to Tayari Jones, Roz Kaveney, Zadie Smith, and Anne Carson, from ancient Greece to the Venezuelan diaspora, this volume demonstrates the urgency and the centrality of women's creations in the world of Classics.

Reading Zadie Smith Philip Tew, 2013-12-05. Since the publication of White Teeth in 2000, Zadie Smith has become one of the most popular contemporary writers and also one of the most widely studied. Taking criticism of Smith's work beyond its traditional focus on postcolonialism and multicultural identity, Reading Zadie Smith brings together leading international scholars to open up new directions in criticism of Smith's work. Covering such key topics as posthumanism, hysterical realism, religion, identity, and ethics, this book brings together a full range of current critical perspectives to explore not only Smith's novels but also her short stories, her criticism, and her non-fiction writing.

Grand Union Zadie Smith, 2019-10-08. Longlisted for the Carnegie Medal, A Dazzling Collection of Short Fiction, Zadie Smith has established herself as one of the most iconic, critically respected, and popular writers of her generation. In her first short story collection, she combines her power of observation and her inimitable voice to mine the fraught and complex experience of life in the modern world. Interleaving eleven completely new and unpublished stories with some of her best loved pieces from The New Yorker and elsewhere Smith presents a dizzyingly rich and varied collection of fiction Moving exhilaratingly across genres and perspectives from the historic to the vividly current to the slyly dystopian Grand Union is a sharply alert and prescient collection about time and place identity and rebirth the persistent legacies that haunt our present selves and the uncanny futures that rush up to meet us Nothing is off limits and everything when captured by Smith's brilliant gaze feels fresh and relevant Perfectly paced and utterly original Grand Union highlights the wonders Zadie Smith can do

Changing My Mind Zadie Smith, 2010-10-26 These essays reflect a lively unselfconscious rigorous erudite and earnestly open mind that's busy refining its view of life literature and a great deal in between Los Angeles Times Split into five sections Reading Being Seeing Feeling and Remembering Changing My Mind finds Zadie Smith casting an acute eye over material both personal and cultural This engaging collection of essays some published here for the first time reveals Smith as a passionate and precise essayist equally at home in the world of great books and bad movies family and philosophy British comedians and Italian divas Whether writing on Katherine Hepburn Kafka Anna Magnani or Zora Neale Hurston she brings deft care to the art of criticism with a style both sympathetic and insightful Changing My Mind is journalism at its most expansive intelligent and funny a gift to readers and writers both

Like One of the Family Fiona Mills, 2016-06-22 Kathryn Stockett's 2009 best selling novel The Help and its subsequent 2011 film center on the experiences of African American domestic workers living in Jackson Mississippi Stockett's sanitized portrayal of life in the Deep South where black women were charged with rearing white children while concurrently barred from sharing toilets and common eating areas with their employers simultaneously enthralled and disturbed readers and viewers alike Notably it is not the domestics themselves who render their tales but rather Eugenia Phelan a white twenty something Mississippian with whom they hesitantly collaborate who ultimately voices their stories of life during the harrowing early days of the Civil Rights movement in the Deep South Essentially these stories are articulated through the voice of a white woman a fact that becomes even more complex when one acknowledges that this fictional tale of the inner life of black maids working in Jackson Mississippi one of the most notorious states in regards to racial atrocities suffered during the mid twentieth century is rendered through the words of a white southern writer Despite the book's positive public reception its sentimental portrait of the lives of African American domestic workers is troubling due to its heavy handed use of dialect and feel good message about the admirable interventions of a white protagonist intent on alleviating some suffering while glossing over the vicious attacks on African Americans during the Civil Rights era The issue of visibility invisibility is central in this text At its most basic level the text itself has lacked traditional critical visibility as currently there has been a dearth of academic books focusing on this specific novel although the novel and subsequent film received much attention in national newspapers and magazines as well as significant critical debate in a wide variety of online venues This collection considers why such sterilized versions of America's complex racial history resonate so deeply in our contemporary timeframe Essay topics range from examinations of the laboring black female body to the impact of domestic work on families both black and white to explorations of the connections between rhetoric writing and race Also included are several comparative pieces that draw connections between Stockett's work and that of 1940s cartoonist Jackie Ormes as well as filmic comparisons to Imitation of Life 1934 and 1959 and Black Girl 1966 by Senegalese filmmaker Ousmane Semb ne With a Preface by Trudier Harris and the inclusion of several essays previously published in Southern Quarterly and Southern Cultures this volume represents the first text dedicated solely to Stockett's wildly popular novel and its subsequent film adaptation
