Giaccardi, Matteo Tarantino, Simone Tosoni, 2014-07-18 The percentage of people living in cities and the adoption rates of communication technologies continue to grow across the planet Our age has come to be defined as one of urbanism and communication but how are those two intertwined How do they shape each other Where and in which ways do they diverge support or fold into each other As new tensions emerge and old ones find new solutions social sciences are forced into a dialogue with media studies and urban studies in order to make sense of the new reality New theoretical and methodological paradigms are urgently needed and can be produced only through a fertile and eclectic dialogue This volume presents some of the latest research in this exciting cross disciplinary field Issues of conflict mobility crime art memory ethnicity identity and city marketing and branding come under rigorous scrutiny in their mutual and constitutive relationship with urban space and communicative technologies and practices The volume is divided into three broad sections The first section deals with the role of media in the social production of urban space that is with how media interact with other forces in giving shape to the materiality of the city The second section deals with how urban space acts as a context for a variety of media related practices especially in relation to the popularization of mobile geo localization technologies which have given us mass phenomena such as Foursquare The third and final section deals with how urban space is mediated and communicated through ICTs or in other terms how urban space is represented by specific media through specific discursive strategies

Teaching REPORTER Facing History and Ourselves,2010-12 Facing History and Ourselves has developed Teaching Reporter to help classrooms explore essential questions about being a global citizen in the information age The documentary Reporter follows New York Times columnist Nicholas Kristof on a reporting trip to central Africa Watching Kristof identify stories that he thinks will galvanize readers to take action to prevent further humanitarian disasters in places such as Congo and Darfur gives us an opportunity to think about not only the role of the journalist but also our own roles as members of a global society To whom do we show compassion Under what circumstances How can information be used to encourage action on behalf of others Teaching Reporter includes materials that help students make connections between the dramatic events presented in the film and the choices they make in their own lives as creators and consumers of media By addressing issues ranging from journalistic objectivity to psychic numbing the resources in this study guide help develop students civic and media literacy skills

Misunderstanding News Audiences Eiri Elvestad,Angela Phillips,2018-04-09 Misunderstanding News Audiences interrogates the prevailing myths around the impact of the Internet and social media on news consumption and democracy The book draws on a broad range of comparative research into audience engagement with news across different geographic regions to provide insight into the experience of news audiences in the twenty first century From its inception it was imagined that the Internet would benignly transform the nature of news media and its consumers There were predictions that it would for example break up news oligarchies improve plurality and diversity through news personalisation create genuine social solidarity online and increase political awareness and participation among citizens However this book finds that while mainstream news media is still the major source of news the new media environment appears to lead to greater polarisation between news junkies and news avoiders and to greater political polarisation The authors also argue that the dominant role of the USA in the field of news audience research has created myths about a global news audience which obscures the importance of national context as a major explanation for news exposure differences Misunderstanding News Audiences presents an important analysis of findings from recent audience studies and in doing so encourages readers to re evaluate popular beliefs about the influence of the Internet on news consumption and democracy in the West

The SAGE Handbook of Television Studies Manuel Alvarado,Milly Buonanno,Herman Gray,Toby Miller,2014-12-09 Genuinely transnational in content as sensitive to the importance of production as consumption covering the full range of approaches from political economy to textual analysis and written by a star studded cast of contributors Emeritus Professor Graeme Turner University of Queensland Finally we have before us a first rate and wide ranging volume that reframes television
