Mircea Eliade's Vision for a New Humanism David Cave, 1993-01-28 The influential scholar of religion Mircea Eliade envisioned a spiritually destitute modern culture coming into renewed meaning through the recovery of archetypal myths and symbols Eliade defined this restoration of meaning as a new humanism of existential meaning and cultural religious unity Through a biographical exegesis of Eliade's life and writings from his earliest years in Romania to his final ones as professor of the history of religions at the University of Chicago Cave sets forward a structural description of what this new humanism might have meant for Eliade and what it signifies for modern culture Cave concludes by endorsing Eliade's radically pluralistic vision which he argues offers a key to the revitalization of our demythologized and material culture This study repositions previous Eliadean studies and places the new humanism as the paradigm in relation to which future readings of Eliade should be evaluated

F. F. Coppola & Mircea Eliade Cristina Scarlat, 2018 Changed in a Flash Elizabeth G. Krohn, Jeffrey J. Kripal, 2018-10-23 A fascinating first hand account of an awakening into a psychic consciousness paired with a revolutionary analysis by a respected professor of religion When Elizabeth Greenfield Krohn got out of her car with her two young sons in the parking lot of her synagogue on a late afternoon in September 1988 she couldn t have anticipated she would within seconds be struck by lightning and have a near death experience She felt herself transported to a garden and engaging in a revelatory conversation with a spiritual being When she recovered her most fundamental understandings of what the world is and how it works had been completely transformed She was changed in a flash suddenly able to interact with those who had died and have prescient dreams predicting news events She came to believe that some early traumatic and abusive experiences had played a part in preparing her for this experience Told in matter of fact language the first half of this book is the story of Krohn s journey and the second is an interpretation and analysis by respected professor of religion Jeffrey J Kripal He places Krohn s experience in the context of religious traditions and proposes the groundbreaking idea that we are shaping our own experiences in the future by how we engage with near death experiences in the present Changed in a Flash is not about proving a story but about carving out space for serious discussion of this phenomenon
