

How To Write A Text Response Essay

The principles of a text response essay are crucial to understand to be successful in English. Essentially in this type of text response essay you are exploring and discussing the ideas the text deals with and how it goes about doing this.

What does this mean for you? Well, first of all writing your essay is a pretty familiar process:

- Break down the prompt to find out what it is asking you to discuss and deal with.
- Identify and articulate your thesis statement (your central idea or the overarching response to the prompting material, for those of you not familiar with this term). Remember that you don't have to agree with the prompt and that you can clarify your position to 'find the grey areas'.
- Decide what three or four ideas you would like to deal with (or what three or four questions you think you need to answer) to fully deal with all parts of the prompt and address all elements of the criteria.
- Plan out these as your paragraphs, ordering them so that you build a complex analysis of the text and so that each paragraph builds on the ideas presented in the last.
- Think of at least two or three examples that can be used to justify each of these points and note down how they connect to the ideas in the text so you are sure you are not just discussing the storyline or plot.

Since Year 8 we have provided you with a method of thinking through your planning which was very basic. That was okay to learn the process but now you need you to move on to writing well-crafted and eloquent essays. This first method is the next step along your journey of writing essays. This is still a simplistic structure but the focus is on exploration of ideas and discussion rather than dot point bits of information joined up. Use this structure as a starting point to get the bones of an essay right and begin moving more to discussion and detailed analysis but if you are feeling confident take the next step over the page and try working on more complex and detailed main body paragraphs.

Essential Actions for Academic Writing Nigel A. Caplan, Ann Johns, 2022-03-09. Combines genre research, proven pedagogical practices, and short readings to help students develop their rhetorical flexibility by exploring and practicing the key actions that will appear in academic assignments, such as explaining, summarizing, synthesizing, and arguing. Essential Actions for Academic Writers is a writing textbook for all novice academic students, undergraduate or graduate, to help them understand how to write effectively throughout their academic and professional careers. While these novice writers may use English as a second or additional language, this book is also intended for students who have done little writing in their prior education or who are not yet confident in their academic writing. Essential Actions combines genre research, proven pedagogical practices, and short readings to help students develop their rhetorical flexibility by exploring and practicing the key actions that will appear in academic assignments, such as explaining, summarizing, synthesizing, and arguing. Part I introduces students to rhetorical situation, genre, register, source use, and a framework for understanding how to approach any new writing task. The genre approach recognizes that all writing responds to a context that includes the writer's identity, the reader's expectations, the purpose of the text, and the conventions that shape it. Part II explores each essential action and provides examples of the genres and language that support it. Part III leads students in combining the actions in different genres and contexts, culminating in the project of writing a personal statement for a university or scholarship application.
