

CLEAN WATER JUSTICE ACT

Allowing communities impacted by water pollution to enforce state law

SPONSORS: DEL. SARA LOVE & SEN. MALCOLM AUGUSTINE

The U.S. Supreme Court removed countless streams and wetlands from federal Clean Water Act (CWA) protection, eliminating communities' right to enforce the CWA to protect these waterways.

Maryland still protects these waterways, plus groundwater, but the state has no right for communities to enforce state law like under the CWA. Most noteworthy water pollution enforcement actions are brought by community groups.

This bill provides a new right for impacted community members to enforce the law in state court the same way they were previously able to do in federal court.

Allowing community groups to work alongside the state to enforce clean water laws will bring much needed enforcement capacity to the state to ensure safe water for all.
