THE MYSTIC MASSEUR

The Mystic Masseur English Edition

V. S. Naipaul

The Mystic Masseur English Edition:

The Mystic Masseur V. S. Naipaul, 2012-03-08 The first of Naipaul's twelve novels tells of the meteoric rise and hilarious metamorphosis of Ganesh Ramsumair from failed primary schoolteacher and struggling masseur to author, revered mystic, peerless politician and the most popular man in Trinidad.

The Mystic Masseur Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul, 1957 Traces the unlikely career of Ganesh Ramsumair, a failed schoolteacher and impecunious village entrepreneur and the most beloved politician in Trinidad. To understand a little better, one has to realize that in the 1940s masseurs were the island's medical practitioners of choice.

Eating and Identity in Postcolonial Fiction Paul Vlitos, 2018-10-11 This book focuses on the fiction of four postcolonial authors: V. S. Naipaul, Anita Desai, Timothy Mo, and Salman Rushdie. It argues that meals in their novels act as sites where the relationships between the individual subject and the social identities of race, class, and gender are enacted. Drawing upon a variety of academic fields and disciplines including postcolonial theory, historical research, food studies, and recent attempts to rethink the concept of world literature, it dedicates a chapter to each author, tracing the literary, cultural, and historical contexts in which their texts are located and exploring the ways in which food and the act of eating acquire meanings and how those meanings might clash, collide, and be disputed. Not only does this book offer suggestive new readings of the work of its four key authors, but it challenges the reader to consider the significance of food in postcolonial fiction more generally.

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-09-05 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world? And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience? Answering these questions and more, Volume 11: The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism, from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses. How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume s 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others

Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul Fawzia Mustafa, 1995-09-07 This introductory study offers a critical overview of the major works of V S Naipaul from 1950 to the present day Professor Mustafa s main concern is with literary issues but historical political and cultural questions are also addressed with comparative references to other postcolonial works Paradoxically a major segment of Naipaul s non western pro decolonisation readership seized on negative elements in his thinking while Western reaction to his ideas and themes led to set notions about Third World society Thus his work has always been the object of radically divergent views dependent on the perspective of the reader In examining this issue Mustafa introduces general debates about postcolonial literary production and its contemporary interrogation of narrative techniques language gender race and canon formulation

Conversations with V. S. Naipaul Feroza F. Jussawalla, 1997 This collection brings together interviews from a thirty six year span and reveals a witty sometimes scathing talker with a free ranging curiosity In early interviews mostly given to such fellow writers and colleagues as Derek Walcott and Eric Roach Naipul is clipped brusque and clearly impatient with interviewers More recent interviews given primarily to journalists rather than literary figures reveal a more mellow Naipaul often warm passionate and forthcoming about his private life

Retelling the Caribbean Laura Ekberg, 2025-09-26 Retelling the Caribbean examines heterolingualism in Anglophone Caribbean novels and their Finnish translations Heterolingualism such as various types of code switching is utilised by many Caribbean authors to represent the linguistic multiplicity of Caribbean cultures Switching between different languages is a natural part of communication in Caribbean communities. Consequently, issues of language and cultural representation have become an integral part of the Caribbean literary tradition. This study is located at an intersection between the notion of intercultural translation employed in Postcolonial Studies and the notion of interlingual translation that is at the centre of Translation Studies, examining both the original novels and their Finnish translations as forms of translation. The book maps the strategies used by the Finnish translators of these heterolingual texts, comparing them to the strategies used by the authors in the representation of Caribbean language and culture in the original literary works. Through textual analysis of works spanning five decades of translated Anglophone Caribbean fiction in Finnish, as well as translator interviews, the book sheds light on some of the central issues related to cultural representation in the translation of heterolingual literary works. V.S. Naipaul Mohit Kumar Ray, 2004. V. S. Naipaul Has Claimed That All His Work Is Really One And He Has Been Writing One Big Book All These Years. Also, considering the world he has stepped into and the world he has to look at, he cannot be a professional novelist in the old sense. In early youth, Naipaul took up the vocation of a writer as his religion, and since the beginning five decades ago, has drawn on his intensely personal experience of an uprooted person adrift in the world. His experience of the two worlds, to none of which he could really belong, an experience that imparts the authentic voice to his works, both non-fiction and fiction, enriched by a distinct autobiographical flavour, Naipaul himself is split into his characters, in whom are manifested subtle shades of his emotions and traits. He is an accidental man, a dangling man, a history man, and the mimic man, all rolled into one. Naipaul is also one of literature's great travellers, and his absorption into the experience of rootlessness, the alienating effects of colonial past on today's postcolonial people, has taken him to Africa, South America, India, and all over the world, not in search of roots but in search of rootlessness. And he has yielded a rich harvest of travelogues, which are about much more than travel. An author of a large number of fictional and non-fictional works, Naipaul continues to surprise, excite, provoke, and move readers at every turn of his literary voyage. Naipaul has an unseverable emotional bond with India, which remains for him an area of pain, an ache for which one has a great tenderness, yet from which he wishes to separate himself. The world of V. S. Naipaul is the world of two worlds. The present volumes of papers on Naipaul, led by Naipaul's Nobel Lecture, offer illuminating perspectives and interesting explorations into this rich, enigmatic, sad, hilarious, and fascinating world of Naipaul. V. S. Naipaul of Trinidad Nivedita Misra, 2024-01-09. The book is about V. S. Naipaul, who was born in Trinidad in 1932. At the age of 18, Naipaul left Trinidad on a scholarship to study literature at Oxford. He never returned to live in Trinidad. His first book was published in 1956, and by the time Trinidad achieved political independence in 1962, he had published four books and was firmly established as a writer in England. By the time Trinidad became a republic in 1976, Naipaul had written 13 books and had travelled through much of the postcolonial world. This book highlights how Trinidad and Naipaul were bound in a love-hate relationship, where Naipaul continued to pass Trinidad off as a cynical island where nothing was created, while Trinidad had its share by laying back a claim on him and his writing It is generally perceived that Naipaul shunned his place of birth as he called his birth in Trinidad a mistake Trinidad an unimportant uncreative cynical place and the Caribbean as the Third World s Third World His refusal to acknowledge Trinidad in his initial response to receiving the Nobel Prize added insult to injury Yet he was deeply bound to the island of Trinidad and his roots in the Indo Trinidadian community This book makes Naipaul s connection to Trinidad more than evident and as such adds to the present body of knowledge V. S. Naipaul and World Literature Vijay Mishra, 2024-02-08 V S Naipaul is a major and controversial figure in postcolonial and world literature This book provides a challenging and uncompromisingly honest study that engages with history genre theory aesthetics and global literary culture with close reference to Naipaul s published and archival material In his fiction and creative histories the definition of the modern idea of world literature is informed by the importance of an artistic ordering of perception Although often expressing ideas that are prejudicial and morally repugnant there is an honesty in his writings where one finds extraordinary insights into how life is experienced within colonial structures of power These colonial structures provided no abstract unity to the field of literary expression and ignored vernacular cultures The book argues that a universal ideology of the aesthetic transcending time regions and languages provides world literature with a unity which is possible only within a critical universal humanism attuned to heroic readings of texts and cultures
