[new Series]*, 1903 The Law Journal Reports Henry D. Barton, 1854 Women of the English Nobility and Gentry, 1066-1500 Jennifer Ward, 2013-01-01 While there is increasing interest in the lives of medieval women the documentary evidence for their activities remains little known This book provides a collection of sources for an important and influential group of women in medieval England and examines changes in their role and activities between 1066 and 1500 For most noble and gentry women early marriage led to responsibilities for family and household and in the absence of their husbands for the family estates and retainers Widowhood enabled them to take control of their affairs and to play an independent part in the local community and sometimes further afield Although many women s lives followed a conventional pattern great variety existed within family relationships and individuality can also be seen in religious practices and patronage Piety could take a number of different forms whether a woman became a nun a vowess or a noted philanthropist and benefactor to religious institutions This volume provides a broad ranging and accessible coverage of the role of noble women in medieval society It highlights the significant role played by these women within their families households estates and communities The Law Journal for the Year 1832-1949, 1863 Defining the New Testament Logia on Divorce and Remarriage in a Pluralistic Context Yordan Kalev Zhekov, 2009-01-01 Christian marriage is a permanent union which requires the commitment of both spouses for its maintenance through fulfillment of its stipulations The failure of the fulfillment of the latter provides legitimate grounds for divorce and remarriage of the innocent party This work employs a fourfold approach for the development of NT ethical argumentation based on Richard B Hays Moral Vision of the New Testament The author establishes the proper contextual grounds for the NT study through formulation of the Old Testament perspective on marriage as covenant The relevant NT passages are examined through historical critical and narrative critical methods A critical study of the main Christian traditions leads to an ecumenical formulation of the theological conclusions Pragmatic implementation of the thesis follows an examination of the contemporary pluralistic context and applications in both Christian communities and the larger society within its legislative system The Law Reports Under the
