The Motherless Child Project:

The Motherless Child in the Novels of Pauline Hopkins Jill Bergman, 2012-12-17 Well known in her day as a singer playwright author and editor of the Colored American Magazine Pauline Hopkins 1859-1930 has been the subject of considerable scholarly attention over the last twenty years. Academic review of her many accomplishments however largely overlooks Hopkins's contributions as novelist. The Motherless Child in the Novels of Pauline Hopkins the first book length study of Hopkins's major fiction fills this gap offering a sustained analysis of motherlessness in Contending Forces, Hagar's Daughter, Winona and Of One Blood. Motherlessness appears in all of Hopkins's novels. The motif Jill Bergman asserts resonated profoundly for African Americans living with the legacy of abduction from a motherland and familial fragmentation under slavery. In her novels motherlessness serves as a trope for the national alienation of post Reconstruction African Americans. The longing and search for a maternal figure then represents an effort to reconnect with the absent mother, a missing parent and a lost African history and heritage. In Hopkins's oeuvre the image of the mother of African heritage, a source of both identity and persecution becomes a source of power and possibility. Bergman shows how historical events such as Bleeding Kansas, the execution of John Brown and the Middle Passage gave rise to a sense of motherlessness and how Hopkins's work engages with that of other contemporaneous race activists. This illuminating study opens new terrain not only in Hopkins scholarship but also in the complex interchanges between literary African American psychoanalytic feminist and postcolonial studies.

Helping Children Cope with the Death of a Parent Paddy Greenwall Lewis, Jessica G. Lippman, 2004-02-28 The mourning of a parent's death can take many years for some it may take a lifetime. The first year of separation however is often the most difficult and heart wrenching. The first birthday, holiday, spring, summer, autumn and winter spent without the loved one often revives or increases the pain. This unique guide is organized according to a timeline of a child's first year of mourning the loss of a parent. It is a warm, insightful yet practical guide to help the families and community members surrounding a child who has suffered such a loss to anticipate and cope with the many difficulties that arise. Practical suggestions for providing comfort, information and advice are provided for adults struggling to help children endure the trauma. A range of difficult situations that bereaved children encounter are identified, helping to prepare adults for a child's potential reactions and providing them with realistic coping strategies. Lewis and Lippman, child psychologists who have provided therapy to children who have lost a parent, suggest answers to questions that these children frequently ask. They offer methods for dealing with particularly difficult times such as birthdays and share practical advice for everyday situations and events. They begin with helping the child through anticipation of death if it is expected or through the initial shock of unexpected death. Poignant vignettes from the therapists' experience dealing with young and older children are included.

Here specialists on movements in Europe systematically investigate outcomes in different countries in the light of a reflective social movement theory, comparing them both implicitly and explicitly to developments in other parts of the world.
