The Novels of Madame de Souza in Social and Political Perspective Kirsty Carpenter, 2007 Madame de Souza's seven major novels written in the period from 1794 to 1822 show the emergence of the female authored French novel and the novel's role as a vehicle for political ideas during the revolutionary period. The novels Adèle de Sange, Emilie et Alphonse, Charles et Marie Eugénie, and Mathilde Eugénie de Rothelin. Mademoiselle de Tournon and La comtesse de Fargy make an important contribution to early nineteenth century French literature. Madame de Souza was an acute observer of the intimate workings of Paris society and of social and political change in the years 1789-1830. Unedited extracts from her novels Etre et Paraître and other less complete manuscripts appear here in print for the first time. The author was born in 1761 and lived through the political regimes of a Revolution, Empire, and Restoration, dying in Paris in 1836. She had a long life filled with friends, correspondents, and travels in Britain and Europe, and she was admired by literary critics like Sismondi and Marie Joseph Chénier. Until now, a small amount of research has been focused on her first novel Adèle de Sange, but this book shows that this is only one of seven works that should be better known than they are at present.

The Mother / Daughter Plot Marianne Hirsch, 1989-10-22

Mothers and daughters, the female figures neglected by classic psychoanalysis and submerged in traditional narrative, are at the center of this book. The novels of nineteenth and twentieth century women writers from the Western European and North American traditions reveal that the story of motherhood remains the unspeakable plot of Western culture. Focusing on the feminine and more controversially on the maternal, this book alters our perception of both the familial structures basic to traditional narrative, the Oedipus story, and the narrative structures basic to traditional representations of the family. Freud's family romance. Confronting psychoanalytic theories of subject formation with narrative theories, Marianne Hirsch traces the emergence and transformation of female family romance patterns from Jane Austen to Marguerite Duras.

American Fiction Magali Cornier Michael, 2008-04 In this engaging optimistic close reading of five late twentieth century novels by American women Magali Cornier Michael illuminates the ways in which their authors engage with ideas of communal activism common commitment and social transformation The fictions she examines imagine coalition building as a means of moving toward new forms of nonhierarchical justice for ethnic cultures that as a result of racist attitudes have not been assimilated power with each other rather than power over each other is a collective goal Michael argues that much contemporary American fiction by women offers models of care and nurturing that move away from the private sphere toward the public and political Specifically texts by women from such racially marked ethnic groups as African American Asian American Native American and Mexican American draw from the rich systems of thought histories and experiences of these hybrid cultures and thus offer feminist and ethical revisions of traditional concepts of community coalition subjectivity and agency Focusing on Amy Tan's The Joy Luck Club Barbara Kingsolver's The Bean Trees and Pigs in Heaven Ana Castillo's So Far from God and Toni Morrison's Paradise Michael shows that each writer emphasizes the positive liberating effects of kinship and community These hybrid versions of community which draw from other than dominant culturally specific ideas and histories have something to offer Americans as the United States moves into an increasingly diverse twenty first century Michael provides a rich lens through which to view both contemporary fiction and contemporary life The Lives of the Novel Thomas G.
