The House at Sea's End Elly Griffiths, 2012 Forensic archeologist Dr Ruth Galloway is back this time investigating a gruesome World War II war crime HOUSE AT SEA'S END. ELLY. GRIFFITHS, 2016 The House at Sea's End Elly Griffiths, 2016-06 Dr Ruth Galloway is called in by a team of archaeologists investigating coastal erosion on the north Norfolk coast when they unearth six bodies buried at the foot of a cliff They seem to have been there a very long time Ruth must help discover how long and how on earth they got there Ruth and DCI Nelson are drawn together once more to unravel the past Tests reveal that the bodies have lain preserved in the sand for sixty years The mystery of their deaths stretches back to the Second World War a time when Great Britain was threatened by invasion But someone wants the truth to stay buried and will go to any lengths to keep it that way even to committing murder The South Holland magazine, 1869 The Beach in Anglophone Literatures and Cultures Ursula Kluwick, Virginia Richter, 2016-03-09 From early colonial encounters to the ecological disasters of the twenty first century the performativity of contact has been a crucial element in the political significance of the beach Conceptualising the beach as a creative trope and as a socio cultural site as well as an aesthetically productive topography this collection examines its multiplicity of meanings and functions as a natural environment engendering both desire and fear in the human imagination from the Victorian period to the present The contributors examine literature film and art in addition to moments of encounter and environmental crisis to highlight the beach as a social space inspiring particular codes of behaviour and specific discourses as a geographical frontier between land and water as an historical site of contact and conflict and as a vacationscape promising regeneration and withdrawal from everyday life The diversity of the beach is reflected in the geographical range with essays on locales and texts from Britain Ireland the Caribbean South Africa the United States Polynesia and New Zealand Focusing on the changed function of the beach as a result of processes of industrialisation and the rise of a modern leisure and health culture this interdisciplinary volume theorises the beach as a demarcater of the precarious boundary between land and the sea as well as between nature and culture History, gazetteer, and directory, of Lincolnshire, and the city & diocese of Lincoln William White, 1882

Thirty Years in the South Seas Richard Parkinson, 2010 Richard Parkinson's Thirty Years in the South Seas was first published in 1907 In this 900 page work Parkinson drew together and expanded on the scientific and popular papers he had been publishing since 1887 creating in the process a landmark ethnography of the Bismarck Archipelago Parkinson moved to New Britain in 1879 only seven years after the first trader had established himself in the area Over the next thirty years he employed many local people on the family's expanding plantations and travelled widely in the area trading for produce especially coconuts observing traditional life and buying artefacts for museums in Europe USA and Australia His travels covered the islands now known as New Britain New Ireland New Hanover Manus Buka and Bougainville but he also collected information about the mainland of New Guinea Kaiser Wilhelmsland His observations covered a wide range of topics from religious life and ceremonies to artefacts and language It is clear he talked extensively with people though mostly with a translator and compared accounts He also took many photographs some 200 of which were included in the volume Given the period all his human subjects had to be posed but the range of associated detail probably unconsciously included is substantial What is particularly important about this work is the period in which it was written While Parkinson may never have been the first contact of any local people he was clearly among the first and observed many societies before they were extensively incorporated into the Western economy or missionised Thirty Years in the South Seas is unparalleled in the literature of the Bismarck Archipelago It is an incomparable picture of a time and place now long past
