Women Teachers in Africa Nelly Stromquist, Steven Klees, Jing Lin, 2017-02-10 Through qualitative research methods this book engages in a holistic understanding of cultural economic and institutional forces that interact to produce the underrepresentation of women as school teachers in four sub Saharan African countries Comparative case studies at the national level using a common research design show that teaching despite being an attractive civil service job offers low salaries and many challenges especially when it takes place in rural areas Combining professional duties with demanding family responsibilities further diminishes women s ability to stay in the teaching profession The studies in this book attempt to bridge research findings with policy by developing action plans in cooperation with ministries of education of the respective countries Women Teachers in Africa will be of interest to academic researchers undergraduate and postgraduate students in the relevant fields as well as development professionals aid agency staff and education policy experts

Enterprising Africa Stephen Dobson, Paul Jones, Daniel Agyapong, Gideon Maas, 2020-12-30 Enterprising Africa explores the future opportunities challenges growth areas and key themes that will shape entrepreneurship in the African continent over the next decade Entrepreneurship can be the key to unlock resilient growth but only if it is driven by both socially productive and growth oriented new businesses The book considers entrepreneurship as an enabler for socio economic growth and development in Africa especially in the context of youth unemployment and increasing youth population for which the traditional and indeed emerging industrial sectors will not be able to produce sufficient jobs to meet demand Organised around three thematic parts Part I covers the notion of inclusive growth and the role that entrepreneurs can play supporting this Part II considers the dynamic between entrepreneurs and the environment since social economic and environmental concerns need to build upon each other rather than vie for recognition Finally Part III offers chapters exploring policy contexts and the wider institutional ecosystems that need to be developed and enhanced to ensure a strong and vibrant environment for the future entrepreneurs of Africa to thrive Edited and authored by leading experts in the field this fascinating text will be of interest to academics as well as students of International Transformational and Social Entrepreneurship and International and African Business

Leadership and Management: Case Studies in Training in Higher Education in Africa Mouton, Johann, Wildschut, Lauren, 2015-08-06 There has been a resurgence of interest in training programmes for higher education leaders and management HELM at African universities in recent times Although there have been a few cases of evaluation studies of such programmes in Africa a more systematic review of the lessons learnt through these programmes has not been done This book aims to document and reflect on the learnings from intervention programmes at three African higher education councils It is clear that university leaders face many leadership and management challenges This is the starting point of the book The Delusion of Knowledge Transfer Susanne Koch,Peter Weingart,2016-12-13 With the rise of the knowledge for development paradigm expert advice has become a prime instrument of foreign aid At the same time it has been object of repeated criticism the chronic failure of technical assistance a notion under which advice is commonly subsumed has been documented in a host of studies Nonetheless international organisations continue to send advisors promising to increase the effectiveness of expert support if their technocratic recommendations are taken up This book reveals fundamental problems of expert advice in the context of aid that concern issues of power and legitimacy rather than merely flaws of implementation Based on empirical evidence from South Africa and Tanzania the authors show that aid related advisory processes are inevitably obstructed by colliding interests political pressures and hierarchical relations that impede knowledge transfer and mutual learning As a result recipient governments find themselves caught in a perpetual cycle of dependency continuously advised by experts who convey the shifting paradigms and agendas of their respective donor governments For young democracies the persistent presence of external actors is hazardous ultimately it poses a threat to the legitimacy of their governments if their policy making becomes more responsive to foreign demands than to the preferences and needs of their citizens The Delusion of Knowledge Transfer Susanne Koch,Peter Weingart,2016-12-13 With the rise of the knowledge for development paradigm expert advice has become a prime instrument of foreign aid At the same time it has been object of repeated criticism the chronic failure of technical assistance a notion under which advice is commonly subsumed has been documented in a host of studies Nonetheless international organisations continue to send advisors promising to increase the effectiveness of expert support if their technocratic recommendations are taken up This book reveals fundamental problems of expert advice in the context of aid that concern issues of power and legitimacy rather than merely flaws of implementation Based on empirical evidence from South Africa and Tanzania the authors show that aid related advisory processes are inevitably obstructed by colliding interests political pressures and hierarchical relations that impede knowledge transfer and mutual learning As a result recipient governments find themselves caught in a perpetual cycle of dependency continuously advised by experts who convey the shifting paradigms and agendas of their respective donor governments For young democracies the persistent presence of external actors is hazardous ultimately it poses a threat to the legitimacy of their governments if their policy making becomes more responsive to foreign demands than to the preferences and needs of their citizens The Complete Book of Colleges, 2013 Edition Princeton Review,2012-08-07 Profiles every four year college in the United States providing detailed information on academic programs admissions requirements financial aid services housing athletics contact names and campus life Handbook of Research on Enhancing Teacher Education with Advanced Instructional Technologies

Ololube, Nwachukwu Prince, 2015-07-17 Before today's teachers are ready to instruct the intellectual leaders of tomorrow they must first be trained themselves. Information and communication technology can greatly increase the effectiveness of this training and also aid teachers as they seek to bring the latest technological advancements into their own classrooms. The Handbook of Research on Enhancing Teacher Education with Advanced Instructional Technologies explains the need to bring technology to the forefront of teacher training. With an emphasis on how information and communication technology can provide richer learning outcomes, this book is an essential reference source for researchers, academics, professionals, students, and technology developers in various disciplines.

Women's Contribution to Higher Education and Social Transformation Lucy A. Wakiaga, 2022-05-16 This book provides deep insights about women in higher education and their contributions to society. Using Kenya as a case study, it places women in higher education at the center of the socioeconomic, political, and cultural discourse, both within and outside the higher education institution. It is notable that even with the progress made both in Kenya and globally, gender considerations in social, economic, political, and cultural spheres are still minimal. In higher education, gender imbalance is still distinct in varied areas such as career advancement, leadership, mentorship, and scholarship opportunities. In society, women's efforts still seem to go unnoticed. The aim of these chapters, therefore, is to share women's research in higher education and in society, especially innovative policy and practice concepts, all aimed at contributing to social transformation.

Give and Take Nitsan Chorev, 2019-12-10 Give and Take looks at local drug manufacturing in Kenya Tanzania and Uganda from the early 1980s to the present to understand the impact of foreign aid on industrial development While foreign aid has been attacked by critics as wasteful counterproductive or exploitative Nitsan Chorev makes a clear case for the effectiveness of what she terms developmental foreign aid Against the backdrop of Africa's pursuit of economic self sufficiency the battle against AIDS and malaria and bitter negotiations over affordable drugs Chorev offers an important corrective to popular views on foreign aid and development She shows that when foreign aid has provided markets monitoring and mentoring it has supported the emergence and upgrading of local production In instances where donors were willing to procure local drugs they created new markets that gave local entrepreneurs an incentive to produce new types of drugs In turn when donors enforced exacting standards as a condition to access those markets they gave these producers an incentive to improve quality standards And where technical know how was not readily available and donors provided mentoring local producers received the guidance necessary for improving production processes Without losing sight of domestic political economic conditions historical legacies and foreign aid's own internal contradictions Give and Take presents groundbreaking insights into the conditions under which foreign aid can be effective
