fellow that I am very much in your debt. He had never said as much before and I must admit that his words gave me keen pleasure for I had often been piqued by his indifference to my admiration and to the attempts which I had made to give publicity to his methods. I was proud too to think that I had so far mastered his system as to apply it in a way which earned his approval. He now took the stick from my hands and examined it for a few minutes with his naked eyes. Then with an expression of interest he laid down his cigarette and carrying the cane to the window he looked over it again with a convex lens.

The Hound of the Baskervilles Arthur Conan Doyle, 2021-01-21 The rich landowner Sir Charles Baskerville is found dead in the park of his manor surrounded by the grim moor of Dartmoor in the county of Devon. His death seems to have been caused by a heart attack but the victim's best friend Dr Mortimer is convinced that the strike was due to a supernatural creature which haunts the moor in the shape of an enormous hound with blazing eyes and jaws. In order to protect Baskerville's heir Sir Henry who is arriving to London from Canada Dr Mortimer asks for Sherlock Holmes' help telling him also of the so-called Baskervilles' curse according to which a monstrous hound has been haunting and killing the family males for centuries in revenge for the misdeeds of one Sir Hugo Baskerville who lived at the time of Oliver Cromwell.

Mr Sherlock Holmes who was usually very late in the mornings save upon those not infrequent occasions when he was up all night was seated at the breakfast table. I stood upon the hearth rug and picked up the stick which our visitor had left behind him the night before. It was a fine thick piece of wood bulbous headed of the sort which is known as a Penang lawyer. Just under the head was a broad silver band nearly an inch across. To James Mortimer M.R.C.S. from his friends of the C.C.H. was engraved upon it with the date 1884. It was just such a stick as the old-fashioned family practitioner used to carry dignified solid and reassuring. Well Watson what do you make of it? Holmes was sitting with his back to me and I had given him no sign of my occupation. How did you know what I was doing? I believe you have eyes in the back of your head. I have at least a well polished silver plated coffee pot in front of me said he. But tell me Watson what do you make of our visitor's stick? Since we have been so unfortunate as to miss him and have no notion of his errand this accidental souvenir becomes of importance. Let me hear you reconstruct the man by an examination of it. I think said I following as far as I could the methods of my companion that Dr Mortimer is a successful elderly medical man well esteemed since those who know him give him this mark of their appreciation. Good said Holmes. Excellent I think also that the probability is in favour of his being a country practitioner who does a great deal of his visiting on foot. Why so? Because this stick though originally a very handsome one has been so knocked about that I can hardly imagine a town practitioner carrying it. The thick iron ferrule is worn down so it is evident that he has done a great amount of walking with it. Perfectly sound said Holmes. And then again there is the friends of the C.C.H. I should guess that to be the Somerset Hunt the local hunt to whose members he has possibly given some surgical assistance and which has made him a small presentation in return Really Watson you excel yourself said Holmes pushing back his chair and lighting a cigarette I am bound to say that in all the accounts which you have been so good as to give of my own small achievements you have habitually underrated your own abilities It maybe that you are not yourself luminous but you are a conductor of light Some people without possessing genius have a remarkable power of stimulating it I confess my dear fellow that I am very much in your debt He had never said as much before and I must admit that his words gave me keen pleasure for I had often been piqued by his indifference to my admiration and to the attempts which I had made to give publicity to his methods I was proud too to think that I had so far mastered his system as to apply it in a way which earned his approval He now took the stick from my hands and examined it for a few minutes with his naked eyes Then with an expression of interest he laid down his cigarette and carrying the cane to the window he looked over it again with a convex lens
