copy here Beyond the Five-paragraph Essay Kimberly Hill Campbell, Kristi Latimer, 2012 Love it or hate it the five paragraph essay is perhaps the most frequently taught form of writing in classrooms of yesterday and today But have you ever actually seen five paragraph essays outside of school walls Have you ever found it in business writing journalism nonfiction or any other genres that exist in the real world Kimberly Hill Campbell and Kristi Latimer reviewed the research on the effectiveness of the form as a teaching tool and discovered that the research does not support the five paragraph formula In fact research shows that the formula restricts creativity emphasizes structure rather than content does not improve standardized test scores inadequately prepares students for college writing and results in vapid writing In Beyond the Five Paragraph Essay Kimberly and Kristi show you how to reclaim the literary essay and create a program that encourages thoughtful writing in response to literature They provide numerous strategies that stimulate student thinking value unique insight and encourage lively personal writing including the following Close reading which is the basis for writing about literature Low stakes writing options that support students thinking as they read Collaboration in support of discussion debate and organizational structures that support writing as exploration A focus on students writing process as foundational to content development and structure The use of model texts to write in the form of the literature students are reading and analyzing The goal of reading and writing about literature is to push and challenge our students thinking We want students to know that their writing can convey something important a unique view to share defend prove delight discover and inspire If we want our students to be more engaged skilled writers we need to move beyond the five paragraph essay Emotional Ethics of The Hunger Games Tarja Laine, 2021-05-17 Emotional Ethics of The Hunger Games expands the ethical turn in Film Studies by analysing emotions as a source of ethical knowledge in The Hunger Games films It argues that emotions incorporated in the thematic and aesthetic organization of these films reflect a crisis in moral standards As such they cultivate ethical attitudes towards such phenomena as totalitarianism the culture of reality television and the society of spectacle The focus of the argument is on cinematic aesthetics which expresses emotions in a way that highlights their ethical significance running the gamut from fear through guilt and shame to love anger and contempt The central claim of the book is that these emotions are symptomatic of some moral conflict which renders The Hunger Games franchise a meaningful commentary on the affective practice of cinematic ethics The Hunger Games movies have become iconic symbols for resistance across the globe Tarja Laine proposes that this is not caused by their status as exciting cinematic spectacles but by their engaging our emotions Laine uses The Hunger Games as key texts for understanding our world demonstrating that ethics do not originate from rational considerations far removed from those mucky things called emotions But rather that emotions are at the core of cinematic ethics William Brown Author of Supercinema Film Philosophy for the Digital Age In this elegantly written exploration of the relationship between aesthetics and emotion in The Hunger Games trilogy Tarja Laine illuminates the power of film to embody ethical conflict Deftly interweaving film philosophy and close analysis Laine traces how these films mobilise complex emotions nuancing our thinking about cinema and the spectator Laine's book takes The Hunger Games films seriously demonstrating with verve why they matter Catherine Wheatley Senior Lecturer in Film Studies King's College London UK In this fresh engaging and insightful study of The Hunger Games film trilogy Tarja Laine explores the crucial role that emotions play in appreciation of the ethical qualities of the movies She forges productive dialogues between a range of film theory scholarship on moral philosophy and debates on ethics as she performs a multi-layered investigation of the aesthetic qualities of the trilogy the multiple emotions embodied in these qualities and the philosophical ethical insights that are in turn embedded in these emotions The cinematic connection between emotions and ethics that emerges through Laine's detailed textual analyses confronts us with complex moral dilemmas while enriching our aesthetic experience Sarah Cooper Professor Film Studies Department King's College London UK
