An Integrated Formal Task Specification Method for Smart Environments Maik Wurdell, 2011 This thesis is concerned with the development of interactive systems for smart environments One of the characteristic of smart environments is the need to support different interaction paradigms at runtime On the one hand interaction is performed explicitly the user performs an action in order to interact with the system e.g. pressing a button to adjust the light On the other hand actions of the user are interpreted by the smart environment even though they have not been performed primarily to interact with the system implicit interactions e.g. walking to the speaker's desk to give a talk A smart environment tries to infer those interactions to assist the user in her work e.g. display slides at the projection canvas Both interaction paradigms originate from different research fields and are currently treated independently although implicit and explicit interaction mutually influence each other and occur interleaved The thesis introduces a task modeling language in order to cope with the given requirements of smart environments which can be used to perform interaction development for smart environments in a model based fashion for both interaction paradigms Internet of Things, Smart Spaces, and Next Generation Networks and Systems Yevgeni Koucheryavy,Ahmed Aziz,2024-05-26 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 23rd International Conference on Next Generation Wired Wireless Networking NEW2AN 2023 and the 16th Conference on Internet of Things and Smart Spaces ruSMART 2023 held in Dubai United Arab Emirates in December 21 22 2023 The 67 full papers included in the joint proceedings were carefully reviewed and selected from 258 submissions They present a unique cross disciplinary mixture of telecommunications related research and science various aspects of next generation data networks while special attention is given to advanced wireless networking and applications
