Year 3 Pitch And Expectations Answer

George and Bache Wood (Franklin)

Year 3 Pitch And Expectations Answer:

Sweet Anticipation David Huron, 2008-01-25 The psychological theory of expectation that David Huron proposes in Sweet Anticipation grew out of the author's experimental efforts to understand how music evokes emotions. These efforts evolved into a general theory of expectation that will prove informative to readers interested in cognitive science and evolutionary psychology as well as those interested in music. The book describes a set of psychological mechanisms and illustrates how these mechanisms work in the case of music. All examples of notated music can be heard on the Web. Huron proposes that emotions evoked by expectation involve five functionally distinct response systems: reaction responses which engage defensive reflexes; tension responses where uncertainty leads to stress; prediction responses which reward accurate prediction; imagination responses which facilitate deferred gratification; and appraisal responses which occur after conscious thought is engaged. For real world events, these five response systems typically produce a complex mixture of feelings. The book identifies some of the aesthetic possibilities afforded by expectation and shows how common musical devices such as syncopation, cadence, meter, tonality, and climax exploit the psychological opportunities. The theory also provides new insights into the physiological psychology of awe, laughter, and spine-tingling chills. Huron traces the psychology of expectations from the patterns of the physical cultural world through imperfectly learned heuristics used to predict that world to the phenomenal qualia we experienced as we apprehend the world. The Targeting System of Language Leonard Talmy, 2024-04-09 A proposal that a single linguistic cognitive system targeting underlies two domains of reference anaphora speech internal and deixis speech external In this book Leonard Talmy proposes that a single linguistic cognitive system targeting underlies two domains of linguistic reference those termed anaphora for a referent that is an element of the current discourse and deixis for a referent outside the discourse and in the spatiotemporal surroundings Talmy argues that language engages the same cognitive system to single out referents whether they are speech internal or speech external Talmy explains the targeting system in this way as a speaker communicates with a hearer her attention is on an object to which she wishes to refer this is her target To get the hearer's attention on it as well she uses a trigger a word such as this that here there or now The trigger initiates a three stage process in the hearer he seeks cues of ten distinct categories uses these cues to determine the target and then maps the concept of the target gleaned from the cues back onto the trigger to integrate it into the speaker's sentence achieving comprehension The whole interaction Talmy explains rests on a coordination of the speaker's and hearer's cognitive processing The process is the same whether the referent is anaphoric or deictic Talmy presents and analyzes the ten categories of cues and examines sequences in targeting including the steps by which interaction leads to joint attention A glossary defines the new terms in the argument
