Network Governance of the UN Human Rights Council Anatoly Boyashov, 2022-07-01 This book explores how the structures of international organizations have become increasingly complex and considers why states choose to become part of networks of international organizations alongside non state actors While granting participation rights to non state actors states have been actively involved in establishing complex ties with them International organizations in their turn have enhanced the sustainment of complex networks The author argues that the involvement in networks of international organizations provides better capacities in communication Thus being a governmental or non governmental entity an actor tends to occupy the beneficial structural positions of a leader connecting to as many actors as possible or a broker bridging isolated subgroups within a network Through a study of the UN Human Rights Council HRC and the respective diplomatic institutional and organizational networks that participate in it he explores the most visible stakeholders the institutional setting of the HRC and the multilateral negotiations on the prevention of human rights violations in 2010 2019 The volume will appeal to scholars students and practitioners interested in the international organisations networks foreign policy the

United Nations and the Human Rights Council China's Vertical Multilateralism and the Global South Dominik Mierzejewski, Jarosław Jura, Bartosz Kowalski, Mario Esteban, 2025-10-21 This book provides an in depth analysis of China led multilateralism and decodes China's narratives and political and business practices both from theoretical and practical dimensions. Introducing the mechanisms that govern China led multilateral formats in what China sees as the Global South, the study offers a comparative analysis and checks whether China uses a one size fits all strategy towards the selected case study formats and adopts a more differentiated regional approach. The case studies cover the following China led multilateral formats: China ASEAN Forum on China Africa Cooperation (FOCAC), China Central and Eastern Europe and China CELAC. The authors introduce four primary practices of China's management of relations within these platforms: executing discursive power, cultivating elite diplomacy, influencing public opinion, and navigating economic interactions to illustrate the bilateral and informal nature of China led multilateralism practices. They argue that the bilateral approach is driven by China's will to keep its paramount position within the formats and its pursuit to exploit the divisions among countries in these formats. Moreover, China's relations with the Global South community are governed by informal networks that give the impression of non interference and position China as the principal power due to these relationships inherent asymmetry. Cognizant of bilateral and informal drivers of China's multilateral practices, the book compares China's relations with selected case studies of countries under the multilateral umbrella: Brazil, Cambodia, Chile, Kenya, Poland, Serbia, South Africa, and Thailand. It considers the growing tensions between China and the West surrounding the crisis of the COVID 19 pandemic, the centralisation of power in China, and the Russian war in Ukraine. Shedding light on China's policies and practices on bilateral and multilateral levels, this book will be of interest to researchers studying International Relations, Asian Politics, the politics of the Global South, and Chinese Studies. ECCWS 2022 21st European Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security

Thaddeus Eze, 2022-06-16 Communication and Sport Michael L. Butterworth, 2021-07-19 Sport is a universal feature of global popular culture. It shapes our identities, affects our relationships, and defines our communities. It also influences our consumption habits, represents our cultures, and dramatizes our politics. In other words, sport is among the most prominent vehicles for communication available in daily life. Nevertheless, only recently has it begun to receive robust attention in the discipline of communication studies. The handbook of Communication and Sport attends to the recent and rapid growth of scholarship in communication and media studies that features sport as a central site of inquiry. The book attempts to capture a full range of methods, theories, and topics that have come to define the subfield of communication and sport or sports communication. It does so by emphasizing four primary features. First, it foregrounds communication as central to the study of sport. This emphasis helps to distinguish the book from collections in related disciplines such as sociology, and also points readers beyond media as the primary or only context for understanding the relationship between communication and sport. Thus, in addition to studies of media effects, mediatization, media framing, and more, readers will also engage with studies in interpersonal intercultural organizational and rhetorical communication Second the handbook presents an array of methods theories and topics in the effort to chart a comprehensive landscape of communication and sport scholarship Thus readers will benefit from empirical interpretive and critical work and they will also see studies drawing on varied texts and sites of inquiry Third the handbook of Communication and Sport includes a broad range of scholars from around the world It is therefore neither European nor North American in its primary focus In addition the book includes contributors from commonly under represented regions in Asia Africa and South America Fourth the handbook aims to account for both historical trajectories and contemporary areas of interest In this way it covers the central topics debates and perspectives from the past and also suggests continued and emerging pathways for the future Collectively the handbook of Communication and Sport aspires to provide scholars and students in communication and media studies with the most comprehensive assessment of the field available
