South African Militaryrecruitment 2015:

Researching the Military Helena Carreiras, Celso Castro, Sabina Frederic, 2016-03-02 Researching the Military focuses on the experiences of researchers who study the military around the world. It explores the historical, social, institutional, and personal factors that frame research and scrutinize the way knowledge in this area impacts society and policy. More than merely analyzing research experiences yet necessarily including them, it is also about the experiences of researchers, their position with regard to the object of their studies, the institutional context where they work, and the way their research impacts the academic and policy making fields in the respective countries. The common theme to the various chapters is reflexivity, a conscious effort at addressing the conditions of research and the position of the researcher and the research participants in that interface. By collecting diverse experiences of researchers from across the world, this volume aims to enhance reflexivity in the field of military studies and to encourage the exchange of knowledge between the academic field and the military arena. This book will be of much interest to students of military studies, research methods, sociology, social anthropology, and security studies in general.

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security, political, and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented, and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed, and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment, and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention, military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality, and mainstreaming the rise of military unions, and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence, security, and civil-military relations of countries around the world.

The Imperial Aircraft Flotilla Margaret Hall, 2017-10-30 A great wave of fundraising patriotic associations followed in the wake of Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany on 4 August 1914, at home but also right across the empire. The most successful public campaign of all was launched in London at the beginning of 1915. Known as the Imperial Aircraft Flotilla, the scheme aimed to attract contributions towards aircraft production costs from throughout the British Empire. Any country, locality, or community that provided sufficient funds for an entire aeroplane could have it named after them. It was promised that when the machine crashed or was shot down, the name would be transferred to a new one of the same type. Margaret Hall examines the Imperial Aircraft Flotilla as a facet of imperial history She analyzes the fundraising efforts in Canada and Newfoundland the Zanzibar Protectorate Fiji Mauritius and the Caribbean Hong Kong the Malay states and Straits Settlements West Africa especially Gold Coast Southern Rhodesia Basutoland Swaziland and the Union of South Africa the Indian empire and Burma British subjects in independent Abyssinia and Siam in the Shanghai International Settlement and the British community of Argentina Australia and New Zealand This remarkable and detailed book discusses the propaganda and counter subversion usages of the Imperial Aircraft Flotilla and what the support for the imperial war effort reveals about contemporary national and regional identities and aspirations who devoted himself to the cause of the people of Sierra Leone SAS veteran Bill Scully who received the Queen's Gallantry Medal single handedly protected 1 300 civilians from rebel troops during the uprising in May 1997 after the Sierra Leone coup and American Vietnam veteran Major Mac Mackenzie who although badly wounded in Vietnam rose from trooper to command a Rhodesian SAS squadron and was one of the units most highly decorated soldiers Also included are more notorious figures like Costas Georgiou also known by his alias Colonel Callan who served in the 1st Battalion of the Parachute Regiment but was dishonorably discharged and sentenced to five years in prison for a post office robbery later he proclaimed himself a Colonel and led a group of psychopathic mercenaries in the Angolan War of Independence before being captured and executed by Angolan forces The book explores the roles of modern day mercenaries whose use has expanded precisely because they are mercenaries fighting for money and not love of country their deaths are not seen as a patriotic sacrifice often they go unreported and in turn helps to conceal the true tragic human cost of waging a war As one former private military contractor recently stated to Australian TV If you want to conquer in the 21st century you use mercenaries special forces things to keep war secret and nobody's better at secret wars than mercenaries
