

Understanding Solubility

What is the quantity of solute in a saturated solution at a certain temperature?

Activity 1

Prepare two solid solvents: a potassium dichromate solution for upper secondary level and lead acetate solution for this subject. Add more solute to the potassium dichromate until completely dissolved. In upper secondary level, add more solute to the lead acetate solution until it becomes a saturated solution (the solution is not clear). Note that the lead acetate solution is toxic and should be handled with care. The lead acetate solution should be handled with care. The lead acetate solution should be handled with care.

After the solution is prepared, pour the solution into a beaker and observe the solution. The solution is a saturated solution. The solution is a saturated solution. The solution is a saturated solution.

Record the results.
