Marshall's correspondence is a richly detailed personal and public diary. The correspondence was important to him, as he wrote the same collection of letters, both as confidential communications and printed essays, often on common themes, such as education and religious reform. His correspondence is a rich source of information on the United States, and has been used as a historical source. Marshall's letters were the subject of a book, The Marshall Letters, by Marshall's son, John Marshall, published in 1865. The book was a collection of letters, and was a valuable source of information on the United States, and on the Marshall family.
