Gomes Ferreira, 2012-12-06 The fields of X Ray Spectroscopy in Atomic and Solid State Physics have undergone spectacular growth sometimes rather anarchic during the past decade The old mold of X ray spectroscopy has been burst and this ASI provided an in depth exploration of theory and recently developed techniques however some work still needs to be done to create a new frame and reduce anarchy in the field The purpose of this Institute was to gather atomic and solid state physicists working in theoretical and new experimental techniques recently developed The lectures were concerned with among others the following fields theory of X ray near edge structure XPS and AES with conventional and synchrotron radiation sources PIXE EXAFS SEXAFS XRF SXS and molecular spectroscopy The Institute considered in detail some of these experimental techniques and the pertinent theoretical interpretations by selecting an important list of lectures which summarize the scientific contents of the ASI The truly international character of this NATO ASI its size and the high quality of the lecturers contributed to make this school a very fruitful scientific meeting Two to four general lectures were given each working day and three afternoons were reserved for presentation of current work in the form of posters We think that these poster presentations reflect the current research work of the participants Target Detection by Marine

Radar John N. Briggs, 2004-12-03 Radar is a legal necessity for the safe navigation of merchant ships and within vessel traffic services is indispensable to the operation of major ports and harbours Target Detection by Marine Radar concentrates solely on civil marine operations and explains how marine surveillance radars detect their targets The book is fully illustrated and contains worked examples to help the reader understand the principles underlying radar operation and to quantify the importance of factors such as the technical features of specific equipment the weather target reflection properties and the ability of the operator The precision with which targets are positioned on the radar screen and with which their progress is tracked or predicted depends on how definitely they have been detected therefore a whole chapter has been devoted to the issue of accuracy The various international regulations governing marine radar are examined a brief historical background is given to modern day practice and the book closes with a discussion of the ways in which marine radar may develop to meet future challenges Tech Notes ,1990 Aspects Of Modern Magnetism - Lecture Notes Of The Eighth Chinese
