Prior Knowledge Questions (Do these BEFORE using the Gizmo.)

1. A 250 mL glass of orange juice contains 22 grams of sugar. How much sugar is in a two-liter (2,000 mL) bottle of orange juice? 176 grams
2. It requires two sticks of butter to make a batch of 20 cookies. How much butter will it take to make 150 cookies? 15 sticks of butter

Gizmo Warm-up

Just as a cook follows a recipe to decide how much of each ingredient to add, a chemist uses stoichiometry to determine the amounts of substances involved in chemical reactions. The Stoichiometry Gizmo allows you to try your hand at figuring out the amounts of reactants and products that take part in a chemical reaction.

To begin, check that this equation is shown:

1. Look at the coefficients (such as the "3" in 3CO) in front of each substance in the equation. The coefficients tell you how many molecules or atoms take part in a chemical reaction. In the spaces below, list the number of each molecule or atom in the equation:

Fe 2

CO_2 3

2. In a balanced equation, the same number of each kind of atom is shown on each side of the equation. Calculate the number of iron (Fe), oxygen (O), and carbon atoms (C).

New equation

New question

How many moles of carbon monoxide (CO) are required to react completely with 1.75 moles of iron (III) oxide (Fe_2O_3)?

Logue,Stuart E. G. Findlay,Jérôme Comte,2016-01-20 Advances in next generation sequencing technologies omics and bioinformatics are revealing a tremendous and unsuspected diversity of microbes both at a compositional and functional level Moreover the expansion of ecological concepts into microbial ecology has greatly advanced our comprehension of the role microbes play in the functioning of ecosystems across a wide range of biomes Super imposed on this new information about microbes their functions and how they are organized environmental gradients are changing rapidly largely driven by direct and indirect human activities In the context of global change understanding the mechanisms that shape microbial communities is pivotal to predict microbial responses to novel selective forces and their implications at the local as well as global scale One of the main features of microbial communities is their ability to react to changes in the environment Thus many studies have reported changes in the performance and composition of communities along environmental gradients However the mechanisms underlying these responses remain unclear It is assumed that the response of microbes to changes in the environment is mediated by a complex combination of shifts in the physiological properties single cell activities or composition of communities it may occur by means of physiological adjustments of the taxa present in a community or selecting towards more tolerant better adapted phylotypes Knowing whether certain factors trigger one many or all mechanisms would greatly increase confidence in predictions of future microbial composition and processes This Research Topic brings together studies that applied the latest molecular techniques for studying microbial composition and functioning and integrated ecological biogeochemical and or modeling approaches to provide a comprehensive and mechanistic perspective of the responses of micro organisms to environmental changes This Research Topic presents new findings on environmental parameters influencing microbial communities the type and magnitude of response and differences in the response among microbial groups and which collectively deepen our current understanding and knowledge of the underlying mechanisms of microbial structural and functional responses to environmental changes and gradients in both aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems The body of work has furthermore identified many challenges and questions that yet remain to be addressed and new perspectives to follow up on
