Stolen Life Excerpts:

A Stolen Life Jaycee Dugard, 2011-07-12 A raw and powerful memoir of Jaycee Lee Dugard's own story of being kidnapped as an 11 year old and held captive for over 18 years On 10 June 1991 eleven year old Jaycee Dugard was abducted from a school bus stop within sight of her home in Tahoe California It was the last her family and friends saw of her for over eighteen years On 26 August 2009 Dugard her daughters and Phillip Craig Garrido appeared in the office of her kidnapper's parole officer in California Their unusual behaviour sparked an investigation that led to the positive identification of Jaycee Lee Dugard living in a tent behind Garrido's home During her time in captivity at the age of fourteen and seventeen she gave birth to two daughters both fathered by Garrido Dugard's memoir is written by the 30 year old herself and covers the period from the time of her abduction in 1991 up until the present In her stark utterly honest and unflinching narrative Jaycee opens up about what she experienced including how she feels now a year after being found Garrido and his wife Nancy have since pleaded guilty to their crimes

Is Canada Postcolonial? Laura Moss, 2006-01-01 How can postcolonialism be applied to Canadian literature In all that has been written about postcolonialism surprisingly little has specifically addressed the position of Canada Canadian literature or Canadian culture Postcolonialism is a theory that has gained credence throughout the world it is be productive to ask if and how we as Canadians participate in postcolonial debates It is also vital to examine the ways in which Canada and Canadian culture fit into global discussions as our culture reflects how we interact with our neighbours allies and adversaries This collection wrestles with the problems of situating Canadian literature in the ongoing debates about culture identity and globalization and of applying the slippery term of postcolonialism to Canadian literature The topics range in focus from discussions of specific literary works to general theoretical contemplations The twenty three articles in this collection grapple with the recurrent issues of postcolonialism including hybridity collaboration marginality power resistance and historical revisionism from the vantage point of those working within Canada as writers and critics While some seek to confirm the legitimacy of including Canadian literature in the discussions of postcolonialism others challenge this very notion

Children and Youth in a New Nation James Marten, 2009 This book unearths the experiences of and attitudes about children and youth during the decades following the American Revolution Beginning with the Revolution itself the book explores a broad range of topics from the ways in which American children and youth participated in and learned from the revolt and its aftermaths to developing notions of ideal childhoods as they were imagined by new religious denominations and competing ethnic groups to the struggle by educators over how the society that came out of the Revolution could best be served by its educational systems Rooted in the historical literature and primary sources the book is a key resource in our understanding of origins of modern ideas about children and youth and the conflation of national purpose and ideas related to child development Passages from the English Note-books [of Nathaniel Hawthorne.] Nathaniel Hawthorne,1872 Ethical Encounters Janne Korkka,2013-09-01 The problems of knowing and representing the other are acute every time we encounter a text as writers or readers Ethical Encounters engages with the representation of encounters with alterity in the writings of the Canadian author Rudy Wiebe Drawing on Emmanuel Levinas s philosophy on the ethics of encountering the other the book argues that Wiebe s writings show that the self s knowledge offers an inadequate basis for ethically valid representations of those encounters In the search for ethical ways of engaging with alterity Wiebe s writings offer new ways of employing silence and the presence of the unknowable as means to explore encounters with alterity Ethical Encounters shows that dividing Wiebe s work into two sharply distinct categories of Mennonite and First Nations writings overlooks important connections between the author s central works and may seriously hinder the interrogation of narrative engagement with alterity While such human encounters resonate against ethical strategies of representation the greatest challenge for the ethics of encounter in Wiebe s texts arises in encounters with the alterity of space Ethical Encounters engages with both physical and narrative spaces which are not permanently fixed in landscape or geography or in human perceptions of place arguing that the most radical expressions of alterity in Wiebe s writings emerge in encounters with the spaces of the Canadian North The study raises questions about the relationship between the self and the other as they concern knowing what does the self know when it claims to know another person or space How does the narrating self negotiate the seeming collapse of its own knowledge when it encounters others whose stories cannot be known Ethical Encounters casts new light not just on Wiebe s writings but also on how we as authors and readers engage with expressions of alterity which refuse to be transformed into familiar knowable forms Janne Korkka is post doctoral researcher and coordinator of the North American Studies programme in the Department of English University of Turku Finland His main research interests lie in the problems of representing space and encountering alterity in Canadian writing He is co editor of Seeking the Self Encountering the Other Diasporic Narrative and the Ethics of Representation 2008 He teaches Canadian and postcolonial literatures and North American Studies and publishes mainly on Canadian writing Passages from the Sermons of Dr. Arnold Thomas Arnold,1857 Hawthorne's Works: Passages from the English note-books Nathaniel Hawthorne,1876 *Extracts from the Annual Report of the Secretary of the Interior ...
