their in group The Stoners enjoyed their days lounging chatting and making crafts while the Traders through a complex market of playing cards competed for the highest bankrolls When they came into contact misunderstanding competition and even manipulation prevailed to the point that each group became so convinced of its own superiority that even after the simulation s end the students could not reconcile Throughout her riveting narrative Downing Wilson interweaves fascinating discussions on the importance of play emotions and intergroup interaction in the formation and maintenance of group identities as well as on the dynamic social processes at work when different cultural groups interact A fascinating account of social experimentation the book paints a vivid portrait of our deepest social tendencies and the powers they have over how we make friends and enemies alike
