

T-65 X-WING

With the invasion of the Republic by the Empire, Imperial naval operations take the form Corporation to design a new fighter for its fleet. Yoda's leading principles inspired the X-wing, drawing upon the strengths of predecessors like the Z-95 Headhunter and ARC-170 fighter. Carrying heavy firepower, a hyperdrive, and defensive shields, the new fighter has a greater versatility rate compared to TIE fighters. Manufacturing begins on the X-wing, and Imperial orders come into play, and the ship is manufactured as soon as before it is too expensive to produce compared to TIE fighters. At a later stage, initial reports approach some Imperial engineers, who agree to give them the valuable fighter. The X-wing soon flies to prominence in the hands of the Rebel Alliance and helps break the Empire's hold on the galaxy.

THE DOGFIGHTING EDGE

The X-wing achieves its remarkable maneuverability through a combination of three factors. Different from most in the fleet, the X-wing has high mass electromagnetic guns in each of the four main thrusters and a strong effect that helps using the ship in tight corners. Finally, the X-wing's four main thrusters are housed through the hollow nacelles in order to better control and give the ship a much more edge in combat.

INSIDE THE COCKPIT

The X-wing's highly responsive maneuverability can make it a dangerous and fast-moving force. In addition to the fully implemented light control system, comprehensive cockpit features allow the pilot to control and control energy distribution throughout the ship's systems.

INDEPENDENT OPERATION

The X-wing's independence and its ability to launch and land without ground support make it a highly independent. The X-wing is equipped with its own support system for use in the air, on the water, and on the ground. The X-wing's support system is located in the rear of the ship's hull. When the ship lands, the water and air supply can be redirected and the support system, possibly reconfigured. A single X-wing can control the ship's air, land, and water systems.

LASER CANNONS

The X-wing's four powerful cannons are the main source of its offensive power. The cannons are powered by a single energy flow that is split into four main cannons, each capable of launching a single shot before they are for.

When the X-wing is in the air, the cannons are used to launch a single shot, launching the X-wing.
