

Climate Change

What is climate change?

Climate change happens when long-term changes in temperatures and weather patterns occur. Such changes can be natural, due to changes in the sun's activity or large volcanic eruptions. But since the 1800s (the start of the Industrial Revolution), human activities have been the main cause of climate change, mostly due to the burning of fossil fuels like coal, oil and gas. <https://www.nasa.gov/learning-resources/1-5-earth-science/1-5-1-climate-change/>

Four major causes of climate change are:

- burning fossil fuels
- cutting down forests/trees (deforestation)
- increasing livestock (animals) farming
- fertilizers containing nitrogen

<https://www.nasa.gov/learning-resources/1-5-earth-science/1-5-1-climate-change/>

What is the difference between weather and climate?

Weather is what conditions of the atmosphere are over a short period of time, and climate is how the atmosphere "behaves" over relatively long periods of time. <https://www.nasa.gov/learning-resources/1-5-earth-science/1-5-1-climate-change/>

For example, in Hawaii it is usually warm and sunny. That is the climate of Hawaii and it has been the climate of Hawaii for many decades (10 years) and centuries (100 years).

However, some days it rains, other days are cooler, and occasionally there are hurricanes. This is the weather for Hawaii. It may change from day to day or month to month.

The climate of Alaska is very different from Hawaii's even though there will also be changing weather from day-to-day and month-to-month in Alaska.

Resources in Education, 1997 The Routledge Handbook of Global Sustainability Education and Thinking for the 21st Century Michele John, 2025-02-20 This Handbook emerges as a pivotal resource in underscoring the important role of sustainability education in catalysing a global shift toward sustainable development. It articulates the need for a profound transformation within institutional leadership and educational frameworks to support the critical global sustainability transition. This Handbook explores sustainability thinking as a critical paradigm shift in confronting the multifaceted challenges of sustainable development. It presents an urgent case for a systemic overhaul in our approach to education in the 21st century, advocating for multidisciplinary education and holistic systems thinking in order to more successfully navigate the complexities of sustainable development. The text discusses the foundational elements of modern sustainability thought and management, including the significance of values, ethics, governance, and the pressing issues of environmental degradation and climate change. It offers an extensive transdisciplinary overview of sustainability discourse, spanning a broad array of perspectives on sustainability management and education. It provides a comprehensive introduction to the language of sustainability and a detailed examination of sustainability issues, highlighting their implications for education, training, and management development. It addresses urgent global issues such as decarbonisation, resource scarcity, population dynamics, pollution, and land degradation, emphasising the crucial role of educational initiatives in helping to mitigate these challenges. This seminal work has been developed for a diverse audience, including academics, policymakers, students, and educators, serving as a valuable tool for those wanting to comprehend complex global sustainability challenges and the paramount importance of education in supporting global sustainability in the 21st century. Handbook of Environmentally Conscious Manufacturing Christian N. Madu, 2022-08-19 Manufacturers under pressure from their major stakeholders integrate environmental issues in the design and management of their products. These stakeholders include customers, regulators, employees, communities, and interest groups who have a common stake in protecting the earth from pollution and in limiting the exploitation of earth's limited natural resources. Manufacturers recognize that being environmentally responsible also offers competitive advantage to the firm. The Handbook of Environmentally Conscious Manufacturing is written as a state-of-the-art reference to guide environmentally conscious manufacturing (ECM). All the contributors have done extensive research and/or practice work in the field of ECM. The Handbook covers all the major topics in Environmentally Conscious Manufacturing. There are specific chapters to deal with sustainable manufacturing, recycling, eco labelling, life cycle assessment, and ISO 14000 series of standards, as well as decision-making aspects of Environmentally Conscious Manufacturing. Decision-oriented topics on supply chain, decision models, quality initiative, environmental costing, and decision support systems are also covered. The influence of ECM on marketing imperative is also covered. Monthly
