How I Got Into Stanford (By A Student Who Successfully Transferred to Stanford) Mandy Howard, 2012-04-04 ABOUT THE BOOK Lets face it competition these days is stiff More high school seniors are applying to college than ever before The increased competition means greater numbers of eager students stuck with envelopes delivering a quick thanks but no thanks rejection Maybe you didn't know exactly what you wanted from your college experience the first time you applied or you've done extremely well at a local school and are ready to swim in a sea worthy of your talent Maybe going to Stanford is your dream and you can't give up on receiving that diploma quite yet Applying as a transfer student allows the school admissions to have another look at you and presents you in a different pool of applicants Every year worthy applicants are turned away simply because of the limited capacity of the class Still transferring is tricky business Transfer admission is even more competitive than admission to the freshman class Recently there have only been between 20 and 40 transfer students admitted each year The year I transferred the number was fewer than 20 This is partially because the students at Stanford are too darn happy student retention rate at the school is typically 98% MEET THE AUTHOR Mandy Howard is a writer and painter born in Denver Colorado She received a BA in Art and Writing at Stanford University in 2009 and an MFA at the San Francisco Art Institute in 2011 She has studied at the Art Students League of Denver the Slade School of Art and Oxford University She is the recipient of the Allied Arts Award the New York Art Exchange Scholarship and the Elizabeth Greenshields Fellowship Mandy currently teaches writes and paints in San Francisco California EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK Play up the things that make you unique Emphasize your special talent There are so many students with perfect grades and perfect test scores What makes you different What makes you special Make sure your credits will transfer Check with the admissions office at Stanford See if you can talk to someone about if your current course load will transfer to Stanfords requirements Make sure that transferring is still worthwhile if not all of your courses will transfer Keep in mind that you may have additional requirements and it could take you longer to graduate and that this could cost more Look in the Stanford Course Guide and pick exactly which major you would be pursuing Match as best you can your currently courses to the the requirements of that major Excel at your current school Consider your semester or two at your current school to be another chance to prove yourself This is not the time to let your grades slack If you aren't happy with the location or the social situation throw yourself into your studies If you don't like the professors or the classes you are required to take take revenge by acing everything Don't isolate yourself in your room with your cell phone do your best to participate in extracurricular activities and give something to the school you are currently at Make the most out of your situation you'll get it back in good school karma

Counseling 21st Century Students for Optimal College and Career Readiness Corine Fitzpatrick, Kathleen Costantini, 2012-03-27 In order for students to compete in today's global economy, our schools need to help them develop better cognitive and technological skills. School counselors have an enormous impact on students' achievement and their success in their post-secondary education, yet initiatives to improve student outcomes often overlook them. Fitzpatrick and Costantini present their own action-based curriculum for high school counselors that will meet the needs of 21st-century students, helping to foster their growth and ambition and actively engage them in learning what they need to succeed beyond high school. Important steps covered in this curriculum include: Making the transition to ninth grade successful; Using technology in the advising process, such as online resources for college and career research, assessing interests, and structuring advising sessions; Preparing for standardized testing and using it to motivate students about the college application process; Assisting students in researching careers and colleges, making the most of college visits, applying for college, and writing the application essay. Equally important, the book focuses on the counselor and his or her role as an advocate and leader for students and details running a guidance office, working with parents, and writing Secondary School Reports. While applicable for all school counselors and students, the authors' curriculum has a special focus on students in urban public schools to enable them to have the same experiences as their counterparts in suburban and private schools. An accompanying CD contains the tables, exercises, and charts from the book so they can be easily accessed and reproduced.

The College Buzz Book, 2006-03-23 In this new edition, Vault publishes the entire surveys of current students and alumni at more than 300 top undergraduate institutions, as well as the schools' responses to the comments. Each 4 to 5 page entry is composed of insider comments from students and alumni, as well as the schools' responses to the comments.
