Adaptations of Mental and Cognitive Disability in Popular Media

Whitney Hardin, Julia E. Kiernan, 2022-03-31 Examining representations of mental difference this collection focuses on the ways that adaptations including remakes reboots and other examples of remixed narratives can shape and shift the social contexts and narratives we use to define mental disability The movement of narratives across media via adaptation or within media but across time and space in the case of remakes and reboots is a common tactic for revitalization allowing storytellers to breathe new life into tired narratives remedying past inaccuracies and making them accessible and relevant for contemporary audiences Thus this collection argues that adaptation provides a useful tool for examining the constraints or opportunities different media impose on or afford narratives or for measuring shifts in ideology as narratives move across cultures or through time Further narrative functions within this collection as a framework for examining the ways that popular media exerts rhetorical power allowing for deeper understandings of the ways that mental disability is experienced by differently situated individuals and revealing relationships with broader social narratives that attempt to push definitions of disability onto them

Diversity in Architecture

Jan Smitheram, Akari Nakai Kidd, 2025-08-15 Diversity in Architecture Intersectionality Affective Politics and Creating Change explores diversity in architecture through an intersectional lens It examines how overlapping individual identities cultural ideologies and institutional practices shape the profession Divided into two parts this book first explores how values norms and ideologies are constructed circulated and reinforced through media representations both from without and from within The second leans into voices from academics and architects within spaces of education and practice who share their lived experiences navigating power structures and affective politics that marginalise diverse voices Considering praxis and actions to create change where care is central it asks what happens if we bring intersectionality to the picture of diversity in architecture through media education practice How can affective solidarity and relationality foster change What role does intersectional care play in dismantling systemic barriers and reimagining a more inclusive future Written in dialogue with and for architectural academics practitioners students as well as wider audiences invested in diversity this book opens its readers to the importance of mobilising diversity in architecture through intersectionality and affect towards lasting change
