Parenting and the Child's World John G. Borkowski, Sharon Landesma Ramey, Marie Bristol-Power, 2001-10-01
Stimulated by the publication of The Nurture Assumption by Judith Rich Harris Parenting and the Child's World was conceived around the notion that there are multiple sources of influence on children's development including parenting behavior, family resources, genetic and other biological factors as well as social influences from peers, teachers and the community at large. The text's 39 contributors search for when, where and how parenting matters and the major antecedents and moderators of effective parenting. The chapters focus on the major conceptual issues and empirical approaches that underlie our understanding of the importance of parenting for child development in academic, socio-emotional and risk-taking domains. Additional goals are to show how culture and parenting are interwoven to chart future research directions and to help parents and professionals understand the implications of major research findings. Iron and Steel Engineer, 1991
Contains the proceedings of the Association Uhlig's Corrosion Handbook R. Winston Revie, 2011-04-12 This book serves as a reference for engineers, scientists and students concerned with the use of materials in applications where reliability and resistance to corrosion are important. It updates the coverage of its predecessor including coverage of corrosion rates of steel in major river systems and atmospheric corrosion rates, the corrosion behavior of materials such as weathering steels and newer stainless alloys and the corrosion behavior and engineering approaches to corrosion control for nonmetallic materials. New chapters include high temperature oxidation of metals and alloys, nanomaterials and dental materials, anodic protection. Also featured are chapters dealing with standards for corrosion testing, microbiological corrosion and electrochemical noise. The Oxford Handbook of Developmental Psychology, Vol. 1 Philip David Zelazo, 2013-03-21
