EARLY HISTORY LESSON OF THE AMERICAS

Most people believe that Christopher Columbus was the first explorer to encounter the new land we now call North America. Would it surprise you to know that historians believe there was another, much earlier explorer on this side of the Atlantic Ocean? A Norwegian explorer named Lief Eriksson is credited with being the first European to arrive in the Americas. He is also credited with establishing the Norse colony of Vinland in what is now L'Anse aux Meadows in Canada.

This colony did not last, and archeologists have been unable to find conclusive reasons why the colony failed.

It was nearly 500 years later that an Italian explorer named Christopher Columbus, sailing under the flag of Spain, made landfall in the Americas. However, he didn't know he had discovered an entirely new continent. Columbus was seeking a better trade route to Asia. When his ships landed in the present-day Bahamas, he thought he had reached

India. When he arrived, he met people who had occupied the land for thousands of years. These friendly people met Columbus and his men and offered to trade with them. Thinking he had reached Asia, Columbus called these people Indians. Why would these men, and many more, risk everything to set out to lands unknown? Let's find out about some of them in this week's lessons.

Connections

Why did people want to explore the great seas? Why did people want to colonize new lands? The simple answer is they all wanted to find a route for trade between Europe and Asia that was safer.

In addition to finding a safer trade route, many European countries were after more in their many voyages. Each voyage was funded for a specific purpose. These purposes are often referred to as the 3 G's: Gold, God and Glory.

Motives and Movement

Gold

Many explorers were seeking riches for themselves and their country. They would search for gold and other precious metals. There was even a rumor that Ponce de León was looking for the Fountain of Youth.

God

Religion was very important to many countries. Some explorers wanted to bring their beliefs to the people of the New World. Many Portuguese and Spanish explorers wanted to spread Christianity, a religion based on belief in Jesus Christ.

Glory

Europe is made of many countries, all of which wanted to claim the most land in the Americas. It was a race for explorers and settlers from each country to start a colony. For example, Jacques Cartier wanted to claim the land for France. Hernán Cortés claimed land for Spain and John Cabot was the first explorer to claim land for England.

Together, these motivations gave rise to the Age of Exploration.
