Secular and Islamic Feminist Critiques in the Work of Fatima Mernissi Raja Rhouni, 2010 This book presents a detailed critical analysis of the work of Fatima Mernissi Mernissi is considered to be one of the major figures in Feminist thought for both Morocco and Muslim society in general This work discusses Mernissi's intellectual trajectory from secular to Islamic feminism in order to trace the evolution of so called Islamic feminist theory The book also engages critically with the work of other Muslim feminists using frameworks and approaches developed in the works of Muslim reformist thinkers namely Mohammed Arkoun and Nasr Abu Zaid with the aim of engaging the theorization of this emerging Feminism

Uncertain Territories Inge E. Boer, 2006-01-01 Tracing and theorizing the concept of the boundaries through literary works visual objects and cultural phenomena this book argues against the reification of boundaries as fixed and empty non spaces that simply divide the world Expanding on her previous work on gender and Orientalism Inge Boer takes us into uncertain territories of fashion and art tourism and travel skilfully engaging the ambivalence of boundaries as both protecting and confining as bringing distinction while existing by virtue of their ability to be transgressed In her close readings of that boundaries as desert as frame as home or lack of it Boer shows that boundaries are spaces within through and in the name of which negotiations take place They are not lines but spaces neither fixed nor empty but flexible and inhabited With the publication of this book Boer's intellectual legacy stretches beyond her untimely passing The writings that she left behind can be said to have inaugurated the future of her work presented in the latter part by several of Boer's intellectual companions In their original essays the contributors elaborate on Boer's theme of boundaries as spaces where opposition yields to negotiation Committed to the artefact as cultural stimulant as the embodiment of thought their analyses span a multitude of artefacts and media ranging from literature to photography to art installation and presentation to film and song Fanning out from Boer's central focus Orientalism to other places of contestation boundaries are shown to mediate the relationship between self and other they are ultimately spaces of encounter

Series of County Histories and Local Topographies ... Heraldic and Genealogical Publications ... Numerous Standard Works in All Classes of Literature John Stansfield,1882 The Literary World ,1897 A Cultural History of Race in the Age of Empire and Nation State Marina B. Mogilner,2023-06-01 This volume covers the cultural history of race in the long 19th century the age of empire and nation state a transformative period during which a modern world had been forged and complex and hierarchical imperial formations were challenged by the emerging national norm The concept of race emerged as a dominant epistemology in the context of the conflicting entanglement of empire and nation as two alternative but quite compatible forms of social imaginary It penetrated all spheres of life under the novel conditions of the emerging mass culture and mass society and with the sanction of anthropocentric and positivistic science Allegedly primeval and parasocial race was seen as a uniquely stable constant in a society in flux amid transforming institutions economies and political regimes But contrary to this perception there was nothing stable or natural about race The spread of racializing social and political imagination only reinforced the need for constant renegotiation and readjustment of racial boundaries Therefore avoiding any structuralist simplifications this volume looks at specific imperial nationalizing and hybrid contexts framing the semantics and politics of race in the course of the long 19th century In different parts of the globalizing world various actors were applying their own notions of race to others and to themselves embracing it simultaneously as a language of othering and personal subjectivity Consequently the cultural history of race as told in this volume unfolds on many levels in multiple loci and in different genres thus reflecting the qualities of race as an omnipresent and all embracing discourse of the time Disorienting Vision Inge E. Boer,2004 Boer provides close readings of philosophical and literary texts paintings prints and other artefacts of the French Orientalists tradition Her readings establish a dialogue with critical post colonial and feminist theory as well as art historical and literary scholarship The Land We Love ,1868 A Simplified Grammar of the Japanese Language (modern Written Style) Basil Hall Chamberlain,1886 Christianity in Its Cradle Francis William Newman,1886 Manual of mineralogy. Literature as Translation/Translation as Literature Christopher Conti,James Gourley,2014-03-17 Broadly conceived literature consists of aesthetic and cultural processes that can be thought of as forms of translation By the same token translation requires the sort of creative or interpretive understanding usually associated with literature Literature as Translation Translation as Literature explores a number of themes centred on this shared identity of literature and translation as creative acts of interpretation and understanding The metaphor or motif of translation is the touchstone of this volume which looks at how an expanded idea of translation sheds light not just on features of literary composition and reception but also on modes of intercultural communication at a time when the pressures of globalization threaten local cultures with extinction. The theory of ethical translation that has emerged in this context which fosters the practice of preserving the foreignness of the text at the risk of its misunderstanding bears relevance beyond current debates about world literature to the framing of contemporary social issues by dominant discourses like medicine as one contributor's study of the growing autism rights movement reveals. The systematizing imperatives of translation that forcibly assimilate the foreign to the familiar like the systematizing imperatives of globalization are resisted in acts of creative understanding in which the particular or different finds sanctuary. The overlooked role that the foreign word plays in the discourses that constitute subjectivity and national culture comes to light across the variegated concerns of this volume. Contributions range from case studies of the emancipatory role translation has played in various historical and cultural contexts to the study of specific literary works that understand their own aesthetic processes and the interpretive and communicative processes of meaning more generally as forms of translation. Several contributors including the English translators of Roberto Bolaño and Hans Blumenberg were prompted in their reflections on the creative and interpretive process of translation by their own accomplished work as translators. All are animated by the conviction that translation whether regarded as the creative act of understanding of one culture by another as the agent of political and social transformation as the source of new truths in foreign linguistic environments and not just the bearer of established ones or as the limit of conceptuality outlined in the silhouette of the untranslatable is a creative cultural force of the first importance. Celal Nuri York Norman, 2021-07-29

The Turkish journalist and intellectual Celal Nuri İleri's unique blend of advocacy for modernity and westernization with Turkish nationalism and Muslim reformism set him apart from his fellow Young Turk thinkers, politicians and publicists all of whom sought to halt the decay of the Ottoman Empire in its competition with the European powers. Although a supporter of the national resistance movement after World War I, his core beliefs about the need for a continued role for Islam in society and maintenance of the Ottoman caliphate were increasingly at odds with the secularist and Turkish nationalist republic established by Mustafa Kemal and his circle from 1923. Here in the first monograph in English on Celal Nuri York Norman outlines and analyses his ideas and policies from Nuri's position on minorities to women and family and Islamic reform. Based on a broad range of primary and secondary sources, Norman reveals the prophetic qualities of and renewed interest in Nuri's ideas after the rise of Islamist political movements in Turkey in the 1990s.
