Parliament. House of Lords,1856 The House of Service David Tittensor,2014-02-28 David Tittensor offers a groundbreaking new perspective on the G len movement a Turkish Muslim educational activist network that emerged in the 1960s and has grown into a global empire with an estimated worth of 25 billion Named after its leader Fethullah G len the movement has established more than 1 000 secular educational institutions in over 140 countries aiming to provide holistic education that incorporates both spirituality and the secular sciences Despite the movement s success little is known about how its schools are run or how Islam is operationalized Drawing on thirteen months of ethnographic fieldwork in Turkey Tittensor explores the movement s ideo theology and how it is practiced in the schools His interviews with both teachers and graduates from Africa Indonesia Central Asia and Turkey show that the movement is a missionary organization but of a singular kind its goal is not simply widespread religious conversion but a quest to recoup those Muslims who have apparently lost their way and to show non Muslims that Muslims can embrace modernity and integrate into the wider community Tittensor also examines the movement s operational side and shows how the schools represent an example of Mohammad Yunus s social business model a business with a social cause at its heart The House of Service is an insightful exploration of one of the world s largest transnational Muslim associations and will be invaluable for those seeking to understand how Islam will be perceived and practiced in the future St. Nicholas Mary Mapes Dodge,1912 Building a House in Heaven Mona Atia,2013-11-01 Charity is an economic act This premise underlies a societal transformation the merging of religious and capitalist impulses that Mona Atia calls pious neoliberalism Though the phenomenon spans religious lines Atia makes the connection between Islam and capitalism to examine the surprising relations between charity and the economy the state and religion in the transition from Mubarak era Egypt Mapping the landscape of charity and development in Egypt Building a House in Heaven reveals the factors that changed the nature of Egyptian charitable practices the state s intervention in social care and religion an Islamic revival intensified economic pressures on the poor and the subsequent emergence of the private sector as a critical actor in development She shows how when individuals from Egypt s private sector felt it necessary to address poverty they sought to make Islamic charities work as engines of development a practice that changed the function of charity from distributing goods to empowering the poor Drawing on interviews with key players Atia explores the geography of Islamic charities through multiple neighborhoods ideologies sources of funding projects and wide social networks Her work shifts between absorbing ethnographic stories of specific organizations and reflections on the patterns that appear across the sector An enlightening look at the simultaneous neoliberalization of Islamic charity work and Islamization of neoliberal development the book also offers an insightful analysis of the political and socioeconomic movements leading up to the uprisings that ended Mubarak s rule and that amplified the importance of not only the Muslim Brotherhood but also the broader forces of Islamic piety and charity The House of Lassenberry Daniel Webb,2015-11-05

Benny Lassenberry was a young poor African American kid who inadvertently got caught up in the mob when he came to the aid of a mafia captain under attack by a group of assassins Benny saves the mans life and in return he becomes the head of the mafias drug operation Benny thrives in the criminal environment and eventually brings his son into the fold The son is ambitious like his father and expands the drug operation to farther reaching areas of New Jersey Little do they know theres a powerful force lurking in the corporate and political world watching the growth of the Lassenberry regime Soon this dark force makes itself known and threatens the Lassenberry family into working for them laundering their products while still working for the mob It becomes quickly apparent that serving two masters is dirty work Will the Lassenberry clan serve the mob or an evil corporate force Will they even survive long enough to make their decision A Historical and Economic
